AXIS CREWS SET 2 SHIPS AFIRE; 4 MORE SEIZED

STATE HOUSE BOSTON APR 1 - 1941

Sabotage Proof

Acting with dramatic suddenness under provisions of the 1917 Espionage Act, the United States seized and placed under protective custody merchant ships of Italy, Germany and Denmark. Here, in this photograph made aboard the Italian S.S. Alberta, one of five seized at Port Newark, N. J., is proof of sabotage . . . the main air pump shattered and useless. Other machinery on this ship was also broken, and the main drive shaft cut through.

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — Seventy German, Italian and Danish ships were seized by armed forces of the United States over the week-end to protect them against acts of sabotage by their crews.

The Treasury made public a compilation covering 28 Italian, two German and 36 Danish ships taken into custody by the Coast Guard and the Army and Navy in ports of the United States and the Panama Canal Zone. Four other Danish vessels were taken over by the Navy in Philippine waters.

The treasury said that the crews had been removed from the 66 vessels included in its announcements. The Coast Guard is a unit of the treasury.

The 66 vessels aggregated 296,715 tons, including 168,775 Italian, 9087 German and 118,858 Danish.

The sabotaging, reported by the Treasury to have resulted in extensive damage to at least 20 Italians ships, spread to Central America today when crews set fire to one German and one Italian ship in Costa Rica.

The ships were the German freighter Eisenach and the Italian freighter Fella, anchored at Punta Arenas. The crews were arrested.

UPHELD BY HULL

Discussing the ship seizure with reporters today, Secretary Hull declared the absolute legality of the government's action had not been questioned by anyone.

Nevertheless, it was learned that the German and Italian embassies were assembling data from consular officials upon which they were expected to base vigorous protests.

Hull would not discuss the use to which the ships might ultimately be put. He said he could not say whether the United States formally would notify the German, Italian and Danish governments of the action.

On the diplomatic implications of the move and whether it took the country nearer to war, Secretary Hull declared that the government was following a formula of all available aid short of war to Great Britain and other nations similarly situated.

He said various governmental officials long had been discussing the possible necessity for some such action as was taken.

ACTION LONG PLANNED

Official reaction was slow in coming from Berlin and Rome, but in New York, Italo E. Verrando, general manager of the Italian line in the United States, said that "everybody knew" that the United States Government was going to seize the ships "for use as planned."

The "prearranged plan," he said, had been "in the offing for some time."

"They (American officials) have been talking about it for months," Verrano declared, "and all that remained was to find a legal way to do it."

Seizures Not Much More Than Week's Sinkings

Taking over by the United States of 296,715 tons of Axis and neutral ships amounts to less than one-third more than the total tonnage sunk during the most devastating week of the war to date.

For the week ending June 23 last—the week when the British made their "victorious" withdrawal from Dunkirk, Britain admitted 212,247 tons of British and Allied shipping had paid the Nazi toll.

The next highest total to that came last fall when 203,849 tons were sunk in the week ending Oct. 20. Of that, 150,347 were British ships.

The Axis' highest claim was for the first week of this month, when they asserted that 432,500 tons had been dispatched by Axis bombs, torpedoes and shellfire. The British that week admitted the loss of but 148,038 tons.

DANE, AXIS CREWS ARE HELD IN HUB

Crews of the three Danish ships in Boston harbor, totaling 35 men, were taken from the vessels shortly after noon today and transferred to East Boston immigration station.

This was the latest result of the government-ordered seizure of Axis-controlled vessels now in American harbors, with condemnation proceedings expected to be instituted later in federal court.

Transfer of the Danish crews—who appeared very happy about the whole thing—came after 43 German and Italian seamen already removed from their ships here had ended a short hunger strike at the immigration station.

WAIT FEDERAL ORDERS

From the Danish freighters Rita Maersk and Herta Maersk, both tied up at Battery wharf, United States sailors assisted Coast Guards and Customs men in transferring 23 Danish seamen to a Coast Guard boat.

In this they were transported across the harbor to East Boston, and there were joined by 12 men taken from the freighter Emma Maersk. Then the entire 35 were escorted to the immigration station and formally detained until further word is received from Washington.

Originally there were 81 members as a total of the three Danish crews, but since the craft tied up here nearly a year ago the others have either signed on British freighters or have joined the British navy.

TOO HUNGRY TO STRIKE

Just one thing — hunger — outwitted the incensed German and Italian seamen at the immigration station in their hunger strike.

To a man the crews of the two seized ships refused to eat breakfast today, and refused later profers of food.

But when the savory noon meal was set out on the tables the hunger strike died a sudden death. There was a rush of the hungry men for the provender and they fell to ravenously.

ALL FACE DEPORTATION

Soup they downed, roast pork, spinach, potatoes, rolls and butter, chicolate pudding and tea and coffee. Not a few came back for seconds.

Nevertheless the filling meal

Eyewitness Story of Big Sea Battle

By LARRY ALLEN

ABOARD H. M. S. WARSPITE, FLAGSHIP OF THE BRITISH MEDITERRANEAN FLEET AT ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, March 31 (AP)—Britain's fighting ships paraded into port today apparently unscathed in the victorious "battle of the Ionian sea" in which at least five Italian warships sank under their blazing guns.

Besides claiming three—and possibly four—of Italy's biggest cruisers and two—perhaps three—destroyers, the British said three aerial torpedo hits on the new Italian battleship Littorio left that 35,000-ton vessel heavily damaged.

After the battle was over, British officers said, they still could hear heavy firing and surmised that, in the darkness, the Littorio mistakenly might have opened fire against some of her own warships.

The Italians acknowledged today the 10,000-ton cruisers Zara, Fiume and Pola and the destroyers Maestrale and Vincenzo Gioberto were sunk by the British, but declare that at least one British cruiser was sunk and two other warships were damaged—

ITALIAN SHIP ZARA

Editor's note.

The 15-inch guns of Britain's battleships were said to have turned the Italian cruisers into a mass of flames when the Fascist fleet was surprised heading eastward in the Mediterranean Friday night.

All the Italian ships, and possibly another cruiser of the Bandanere class and another destroyer, went down between 10 p. m. and midnight, the British said.

In addition, they said three German warplanes were shot down, and more than 900 Italian seamen and officers were taken prisoner.

The admiralty in London said the figure was more than 1000.

No British warship was hit, and there were no casualties on any British surface vessel, naval officials declared.

(The admiralty, however, has acknowledged two British warplanes are missing.)

DASHES DUCE'S NAVAL HOPE

Jubilant British naval men hailed the battle as the greatest fought so far in the Mediterranean and declared it probably had blighted permanently any ambition Premier Mussilini still might have had to make his battle fleet a vital war factor.

The British suddenly got their long-awaited chance to come to grips with Il Duce's navy when the Fascist fleet was reported off Cape Passaro, near Italy's toe, on Thursday.

For the first time since the battle of Jutland, the British fought a night battle involving capital ships the next night when destroyer

Maine Doctor Held In Slaying of Wife

ARRESTED after attending the funeral of his slain wife, Dr. Merrill Joss (left) enters Augusta (Me.) county jail in the custody of police officer to be booked on a charge of murder. The arrest followed an intensive investigation of the slaying of his wife, Dr. Luverne H. Joss, whose body was found in the basement of her home.

Dr. Joss appeared calm but tired as he heard Judge Gardiner R. Deering order him held without bail for hearing Friday morning.

The young physician was brought here this morning from Augusta by State Police.

WOMAN ANGLE SEEN

Shortly after Dr. Joss was arrested, Atty.-Gen. Frank I. Cowan said "there is a woman angle to the case" in which Mrs. Joss succumbed to a savage beating.

Dr. L. Joss

Stout and prematurely bald, Dr. Joss was arrested yesterday at the couple's office and home, a few minutes after attending his wife's funeral services.

He had stared fixedly at his wife's closed coffin in Richmond's Methodist church, and collapsed after the services in the arms of his mother, Mrs. Edward C. Joss, of Washington, D. C.

Dr. Joss reiterated belief that a shabby, bearded stranger to whom he had refused narcotics, had entered the Joss home and office on Richmond's main street and beaten Mrs. Joss in her husband's absence.

26 CUTS ON HEAD

An autopsy showed 26 distinct cuts on her head.

Hundreds of townsfolk and curious saw Dr. Joss, flanked by his mother and father, the latter also a doctor, enter the church for the funeral. The victim's mother, Mrs. Henry Harris of Jackson, Ala., where Mrs. Joss will be buried, also was present.

Mrs. Joss' first husband, Dr. G. B. Ewing of East Branch, N. Y., wired police, "As her friend, can I be of any assistance?"

Dr. Merrill Joss' first wife is the former Roberta Ternbaugh of Wheeling, W. Va.

TWICE-WED Arline Judge was in Hollywood today with her best beau, Millionaire Huntington Hartford, Jr., causing gossips to predict that a third marriage or another serious try at movie stardom is ahead for her. Quizzed by reporters, Miss Judge said, "Hunts and I have a lot to talk about. I won't say we won't be married, but honestly, we haven't any plans."

12 Drown Mistaking British for Nazi Ship

A tragic drama of the sea in which 12 crewmen mistook a British warship for a German raider, took to a lifeboat and were drowned when the craft was swamped, was revealed today with the arrival here of the war-marked Belgian freighter Ville de Liege.

Explaining the reason for the ship's flag at half-mast, officers and crew members told how their ship, 1200 miles out of Glasgow, was halted by a warning shot from a British warship a week ago today.

It was in early morning darkness, and a dozen of the crew, believing they were being attacked by a Nazi raider, piled into a lifeboat, lowered it and cut loose.

Meanwhile, the Ville de Liege had abruptly changed its course, and her radio operator was frantically sending out the "four R" distress call, the call of ships attacked by raiders. The call was intercepted by the British vessel, which then, realizing its mistake, identified itself merely as a British warship, and ordered the Belgian boat on her way.

The Belgian ship then returned to the spot where her crewmen had put over the side. Although sailors searched the area for some time, no trace of the men or their boat was found.

The Ville de Liege docked this morning at Pier 3, East Boston. She bore a gaping hole in her superstructure, suffered during a Nazi air raid on Glasgow.

She brought 53,000 cases of Scotch whiskey, and stores of Irish linen and Sheffield silverware.

Formerly the United States liner American Farmer, the Ville de Liege is one of six United States Line steamships sold to Belgium at the outbreak of the war, and is now one of two still afloat.

Faster than many transatlantic freighters, these ships traveled alone, as the blacked-out Ville de Liege was doing when she was stopped.

FIREMEN SAVE YOUTH FROM 5TH STORY LEAP

After hanging from a fifth floor window for 15 minutes while firemen and spectators shouted warnings not to jump, a South End youth was saved in an aerial ladder rescue today as an apartment house blaze routed 45 persons and caused injuries to three.

Hampered by trolley wires in Northampton st. at the rear of the burning Massachusetts ave. structure, firemen were forced to maneuver their heavy ladder with unerring accuracy as the seconds brought the flames nearer the trapped youth, Norman DeMarle, 21.

He was carried to safety in the nick of time and taken to City Hospital for smoke inhalation.

Also carried down ladders was Miss Doris Kavelle, 35, occupant of a third-floor room on the Massachusetts ave. side of the building.

Mrs. Mary Corzon, 45, residing on the second floor, discovered the fire when heavy smoke awoke her. She screamed for help and was heard by a group of soldiers passing by in an auto.

Police Hunt Trio In Park Sq. Holdup

Officers today sought three bandits who held up the White Tower Lunch in Park sq. and after forcing the employes into a back room and ripping the telephone from the wall, escaped with $130.

Alabama Steamship Docks Swept by Fire

MOBILE, Ala., March 31 (AP)—A blaze which called out every available piece of fire-fighting apparatus here swept docks of the Alcoa Steamship Co., Inc., (Aluminum Lines) last night and caused unestimated damage.

Cause of the fire was not determined, but Fire Chief Manuel Tapia said a large can containing fluid that "smelled like gasoline" was found on the docks.

He Can't Take His 3-Ring Circus Into the Army

DENVER, March 31 (AP)—If the guns don't roar for Glenn B. Robbins, the lions will.

His parents in Portage, Wis., wrote him that his draft number was about to be called. He decided to enlist.

"What should happen," he relates, "but the next day I get a letter from some attorney out in California saying my grandmother (Mrs. Hattie Robbins) had died and left me the sole heir to the Robbins' three-ring circus.

"There's a good man in charge of the circus in California now and he will continue to run things until I finish my three-year enlistment."

Robbins, 37, departed for Moffet Field, Cal., to become an air corps soldier.

Fire Reversed It; Came with Wind

From the street today a blazing piece of paper blew into the yard of the Central Fuel Co. plant, Columbus ave., Roxbury.

The paper ignited a shed, and before firemen could get there the flames were running up the side of an adjoining three-flat house owned by the Home Savings Bank.

The freak blaze was finally extinguished with an estimated damage of $500 to the fuel company property and $1000 to the house.

On the first floor of the house lives the family of Fanny Zwick, on the second floor William Kelly and family and on the third floor Charles Schoen and family.

NEW TRANSFERS STIR POLICE DEPARTMENT

The Boston police department was stirred anew by changes and transfers today, over and above the general order of last Saturday affecting close to 300 men.

As newly-created captains in charge of stations met with their men to ask for co-operation, good police work and "no politics," new notices of transfer were received in the detective bureau and in other special squads.

In the detective bureau, notice of the abolition of the detective assigned to investigate fake auto insurance claims was received.

The work was formerly done by Patrolman Martin Kelley, who now goes on duty with a daytime cruiser car.

OTHER CHANGES

Other changes in the detective bureau included transfer of Patrolmen Frederick Williams and Thomas Donahue, formerly assigned to special investigation for the commissioner, to duty in prowl cars.

Similarly, Patrolman Richard B. Callahan, formerly of the auto squad, was assigned to a prowl car, as was Patrolman George F. Cassell, formerly of the hackney carriage unit.

Patrolmen Perfer P. Fortin and George E. Grey were called to headquarters from the traffic division to become cruiser car detectives, as were George W. Gannon, from Hyde Park, and William E. Jennings, formerly of the pawn shop squad.

Sergts. Joseph Condon and James McWeeney also were transferred to cruiser cars.

Meanwhile, Capt. Robert Lynch was moved to headquarters from Station 4, to take charge of the detective bureau.

DOPE SQUAD CUT

The narcotics squad was reduced from six to four men, with the transfer of Lieut. Frank Sliney to general investigation and Patrolman Timothy J. O'Brien to a day prowl car.

The squad now is comprised of Detectives Francis Sweeney, John J. Carey, Salvatore DiNatale and George A. Toland.

Other transfers involved the shifting of Patrolman Gaetano DiGiacomo, formerly assistant to the late Deputy Supt. Benjamin A. Wall, to duty with the auto squad, and the assignment of Detective John F. Manning to the homicide squad.

Sergt. Coleman S. Joyce was recalled from the East Boston station and placed on his old job of hunting pickpockets.

Sgt. Mark Morrison was relieved of his pickpocket work and assigned to general investigation.

Boston 5-Cent Takes Over Columbus Bank

Transfer of the business of the Columbus Savings Bank, the smallest savings bank in Massachusetts, with assets of less than $100,000, to the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank was announced today.

Thomas Nutile, treasurer of the Columbus bank, announced the transfer had the approval of the state banking commissioner. On April 15 the Columbus depositors will be credited by the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank with a dividend for the six months ending April 30, 1941.

DRAFT GROUP EXEMPTIONS BARRED

Warning that group exemption of public employes is against the law, Gen. Edgar C. Erickson, state director of selective service, today estimated that about 5 per cent of city, state and other government department employes are eligible for training in any one year.

Gen. Erickson said public employes are receiving the same consideration as private employes on the question of occupational deferment.

The yardstick by which deferment is determined, he said, is simply a question of how each individual can best serve the country in a military or civilian capacity.

Gen. Erickson stated:

"Some local government officials have raised the question of group exemption for local public employes. Such group exemptions, of course, are prohibited by law.

"It is clearly the intention of Congress and the President that selective service be administered in such a way as to cause the least possible disruption of normal economy."

Gen. Erickson suggested listing key men of draft age. After striking out those who are married and physically unfit, he advised employers to take approximately 5 per cent of the number remaining as eligible for training in any one year.

This formula, he said, indicated no public agency need suffer any loss in efficiency through operation of selective service.

Tufts Head Has World Peace Plan

More science, especially as it applies to an understanding of human nature, provides the only logical hope of a warless world, President Leonard Carmichael of Tufts College declared today.

Speaking on "Scientific Humanism in a World of Death" at the annual Honors Day chapel services at Wellesley College, Dr. Carmichael said all ground for optimism was not lacking, "if we correctly observe the world as it is with the battle of Britain, the battle of Athens and the battle of the Balkans in full blaze."

"Few individuals today will deny that the principles of ethics and morality as established by the Founder of Christianity would save mankind from the present cataclysm if they were accepted and practiced," he said.

"Proper education seems to suggest itself as the fundamental cure for international aggressiveness, but we must remember that social evolution, like organic evolution, may be a long process indeed," he asserted.

Fellowship awards were announced as follows:

The Alice Freeman Palmer Fellowship to Charlotte L. Meaker, Wellesley B. A., 1936; Smith College, 1939; candidate for doctorate at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Phyllis L. Williams, Wellesley '34, received the Fanny Bullock Workman fellowship. The Anne Louis Barrett fellowship went to Eunice C. Crocker, Radcliffe '36; and the Horton-Hallowell fellowship, the gift of the alumnae association, to Margaret G. Trotter, Wellesley '30, candidate for doctorate at Ohio State University.

Two trustee scholarships were awarded to Edith Roberts of Princeton, N. J., for music study at Radcliffe, and Helen Meharg of Hamburg, Pa., admitted to Johns Hopkins.

Nancy Borden of Hartford, Ct.; Edith Fisher of Roxbury and Elizabeth Mueller of Berlin, Ct., were named both Phi Beta Kappa and Senior Durant scholars.

Senior Durant scholars: Flora Mariotta of Newton Highlands, Mildred Boyden of Saxton's River, Vt.

Junior Durant Scholars: Ruth Weigle of New Haven, Ct., and Alice Shepard of Southport, Me.

Senior Scholars: Constance Ballou, Wellesley Hills; Jean F. Barkin, Brookline; Anita Cohn, Brookline; Helaine Kaplan, Jamaica Plain; Alice Karp, Brookline; Priscilla Magoun, Watertown; Sharlee Mysel, Chestnut Hill; Marcia Seward, Melrose; Hope Sisson, Providence; Ann Sutherland, New Bedford; Marian Chamberlain, Old Greenwich, St., and Janice Murchie, Calais, Me.

Junior Scholars: Jane Fay, Melrose; Alice Bacon, Peace Dale, R. I.; Lorna Cooke, Pawtucket, R. I.; Ellen Holman, Attleboro; Beatrice Shenker, Salem; Marjorie Curts, Middleton, Ct., and Katherine Sickels, Portland, Me.

Alumnae elected to Phi Beta Kappa: Judith Sarr, M. Soffel, Pittsburgh; Harriet B. Creighton, associate professor of botany at Wellesley, and Dr. Connie M. Guion of New York City.

The Wellesley Chapter of Sigma Xi Society announce the following elections to associate membership for high academic standing in science:

Mildred Boyden, Harriet Coverdale, Helen Meharg, Elizabeth Sheffield, Martha Stuhr and Suzanne VanDijke.

Little Steel Hit For '37 Strike

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—The Senate civil liberties committee today blamed the bloody "Little Steel" strike of 1937 on the "uncompromising refusal" of the "independent" producers to bargain with workers.

The committee further declared any company which today declines "under all circumstances" to enter into a signed bargaining contract is "endangering national security."

Reporting on its protracted study of the stubbornly-fought strikes in the Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown Sheet & Tube plants, the committee told the Senate they had a "peculiar relevance to the problems of industrial production and national defense which challenged the nation today."

The committee held "Little Steel" strikes might easily have been avoided, then stated:

"Certain it is that the nation cannot permit these companies today to take the attitude they took in 1937 with the same inevitable consequences of interrupted production."

Board Sees End Near of Last Strike

By the Associated Press

President Roosevelt's new defense mediation board, already batting .750 with settlements in three of the four defense labor strikes certified to it by the Labor Department, hinted that it might wind up the other one before today was over.

Company and union representatives met yesterday with a board panel seeking to end a CIO tieup at the Bridgeville, Pa., plant of the Vanadium Corp. of America. A board announcement said "real progress" was made and that it hoped to be able to make a "definite announcement" today.

NON-UNION GUARDS

The strike was called because the company hired five non-union factory guards. It tied up production of ferro-vanadium, an alloy steel ingredient.

The other three walkouts which the Labor Department asked the board to take over ended as follows:

Chicago — CIO union members voted to end strikes at four International Harvester plants and negotiate before the board their demands for elimination of piece work, wage increases and union recognition.

A. F. of L. workers agreed to go back to work at the Cornell Dubilier Corp., South Plainfield, N. J., tomorrow and continue negotiations for wage increases. If no agreement is reached, the mediation board will be asked to take up the case again.

CIO unionists ratified an agreement for settling of a strike at the Cambria works of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. at Johnstown, Pa. They had walked out in protest over a scheduled election by the Employes Representation Plan which the CIO claims is a company union.

FOURTH SETTLED

The fourth strike sent to the board was settled before the board had to take any formal action. This was at the Universal Cyclops Corp., Bridgeville, Pa.

In the meanwhile a CIO walkout at the Allis Chalmers plant in Milwaukee was still unsettled. Despite pleas by Secretary Knox and the Office of Production Management the unionists voted Saturday to carry on the strike, although the company reopened the plant. The firm has $45,000,000 of defense orders, mainly for the Navy.

Fireplace Spark Sets Woman Ablaze

SHERBORN, March 31 — Set afire by a trail of flame started by a spark from her fireplace as she rested on a couch in her living room, Mrs. Charles P. Heffenger was reported in a serious condition today at Morse Hospital.

Rescued by a neighbor, John Paul, 21, the victim was said to have sustained burns of the entire body, except her face. The spark from the fireplace is believed to have set fire to the rug in the room and then to have traveled to the couch.

Princeton Grad Wounded in Greece

ATHENS, March 31 (AP)—Rodney Young, a Princeton graduate and volunteer worker with the Greek Red Cross, was in a serious condition today at a hospital in Koritza, where he was taken after an Italian bomb or shell fragment ripped into his canteen on the northern Albanian front. Doctors said Young was improving after an operation.

HUTCHINS SCORES F. D. WAR STATUS

CHICAGO, March 31 (AP)—Pres. Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago declared that America should fight now if President Roosevelt's recent remarks about "total victory" over "the enemy" mean that the British, Chinese and Greeks "are our allies."

"If this is so," he said, "it is immoral to let them die for us while we sit safely at home. We should have been in the war from the start."

Asserting there was a chance that the President's remarks were for foreign consumption, Hutchins said that Roosevelt was mistaken if he was moving toward war with "the conviction that the people want him to."

SEES U. S. TOTALITARIAN

And, he added, if the United States were "to proceed through total war to total victory over totalitarian states, it will have to become totalitarian, too . . .

"If we are actually to press on to total victory, we must fight. We are not justified in hoping that the Axis will suffer total defeat without full American participation in the war."

Hutchins spoke at the regular service in Rockefeller Memorial Chapel at the university. The address was carried by the Mutual Broadcasting System.

ASKS REASON

Then, he asked, rhetorically: "If we go to war, what are we going to war for? . . .

"We cannot use the word democracy to describe every country that is or may be at war with the Axis. If Russia is attacked by Germany, will she be welcomed into the choir of the democracies? . . .

"We are stirred, but not enlightened, by the great phrase—the four freedoms—which the President has used as the general statement of our aims. Freedom of worship, freedom of speech, freedom from want and freedom from fear—if we go to war, we go to establish these four freedoms everywhere.

"PERPETUAL WAR"

"The President cannot literally mean that we are to fight on till the four freedoms ring everywhere . . . the President cannot mean this, for it is a program of perpetual war . . . Mr. Roosevelt must mean that by defeating the Axis we shall rid the world of those governments at present most aggressive in their attack on the four freedoms.

"If we enter this war, we shall lose what we have of the four freedoms. We shall lose the hope of realizing them. What we have, in this country, is hope. War, for this country, is a counsel of despair. It is a confession of failure. It is national suicide . . .

"America has been called the arsenal of democracy. It has been called the larder of democracy. Let us make it the home of democracy. This is America's destiny."

PRIEST CALLS CHURCH WORLD BULWARK

With a great part of the world influenced by isms and God-less systems, the Catholic Church today stands as the bulwark of public morals and champion of individual conscience.

So it was declared by Rev. Fr. Richard J. Hegarty, S. J., who in opening a week's mission for non-Catholics at Holy Cross Cathedral stated:

"Down the years rebellious sons, setting up systems of their own making, have broken away from her, rulers have endeavored to exterminate her, nations have outlawed her, yet fortified with the divine promise of immunity from error, she still holds high her head as the bulwark of public morals and the beacon of undying faith" Fr. Hegarty asserted.

"When other groups condone divorce and permit remarriage, she defiantly adheres to the injunction of her Founder—'What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder,'" he asserted.

"She insists on cleanness of heart and purity of body when emphasis is restricted to social hygiene. She calls sin sin and believes in Hell as the penalty for sin, when moderns style sin and Hell 'English words with a medieval connotation.' She demands repentance of sinners, yet mercifully embraces the contrite of heart."

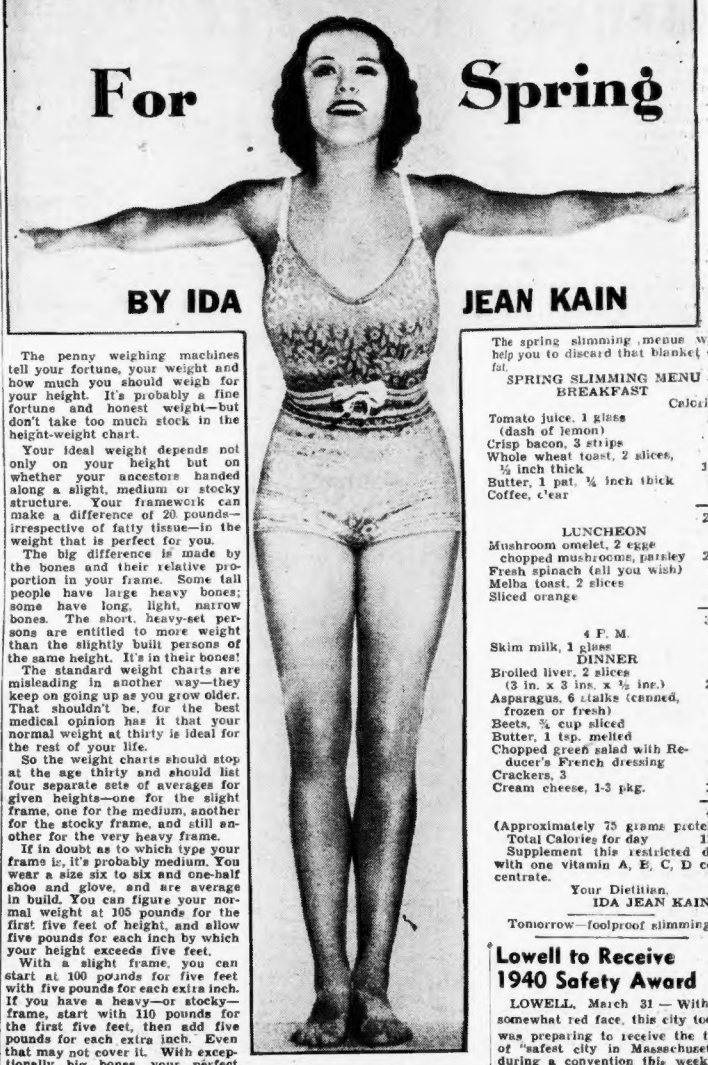
A New Figure For Spring



BY IDA JEAN KAIN

The penny weighing machines tell your fortune, your weight and how much you should weigh for your height. It's probably a fine fortune and honest weight—but don't take too much stock in the height-weight chart.

Your ideal weight depends not only on your height but on whether your ancestors handed along a slight, medium or stocky structure. Your framework can make a difference of 20 pounds—irrespective of fatty tissue—in the weight that is perfect for you.

The big difference is made by the bones and their relative proportion in your frame. Some tall people have large heavy bones; some have long, light, narrow bones. The short, heavy-set persons are entitled to more weight than the slightly built persons of the same height. It's in their bones!

The standard weight charts are misleading in another way—they keep on going up as you grow older. That shouldn't be, for the best medical opinion has it that your normal weight at thirty is ideal for the rest of your life.

So the weight charts should stop at the age thirty and should list four separate sets of averages for given heights—one for the slight frame, one for the medium, another for the stocky frame, and still another for the very heavy frame.

If in doubt as to which type your frame is, it's probably medium. You wear a size six to six and one-half shoe and glove, and are average in build. You can figure your normal weight at 105 pounds for the first five feet of height, and allow five pounds for each inch by which your height exceeds five feet.

With a slight frame, you can start at 100 pounds for five feet with five pounds for each extra inch. If you have a heavy—or stocky—frame, start with 110 pounds for the first five feet, then add five pounds for each extra inch. Even that may not cover it. With exceptionally big bones, your perfect weight may run 10 per cent more than allowed for the stocky build.

If you are less than five feet tall, allow the basic 100, 105 or 110 pounds your structure calls for, then subtract five pounds for each inch of height under five feet.

When you come to figure out all the variations, a woman five feet three could be normal weight anywhere from 115 pounds to 137.

The average person weighs too much after a winter of soft living.

The spring slimming menus will help you to discard that blanket of fat.

Lowell to Receive 1940 Safety Award

LOWELL, March 31 — With a somewhat red face, this city today was preparing to receive the title of "safest city in Massachusetts" during a convention this week in Boston.

Officials were perturbed because already this year five auto deaths have been recorded, as against only five for the entire year of 1940, the record on which the city's newly won honor was based. The Massachusetts Safety Council is to award the prize safety cup to Lowell.

Suing Pilot 'Had to Put Wife Ashore'

SALEM, March 31—His wife's complaints about the food and other things aboard his tugboat caused so much dissension among the crew that he had to put her ashore, Roger H. Martin, of Marblehead, testified in Probate Court here today.

Further than that, he told Judge John V. Phelan, who heard his uncontested suit for divorce from Ellie E. Martin, of Rockport, he was frequently embarrassed when his wife called him names in front of his crew.

Martin testified that during most of his married life, which began in October, 1923, he was a pilot commissioner engaged in coastwise towing. He took Mrs. Martin aboard his tugboat, he said, when she complained he was away from home too often.

In support of his charge of cruelty against Mrs. Martin, he also testified that one night he awakened to find her creeping stealthily into his room with a pair of scissors in her hand.

On another occasion, Martin told the court, his wife pulled his hands from the wheel of an automobile he was driving through traffic with the result he crashed into an electric trolley car.

Mrs. Edna M. Sutherland, of Lynn, testified in her suit for divorce from Norman V. Sutherland, of Saugus, that one of the many times he struck her, came when she discovered him in a car with another woman at a harvest supper in New Hampshire last October.

She told Judge Phelan they were married in Marlboro, on Nov. 11, 1929, and that she left him in Nov., 1940, shortly after the New Hampshire incident.

According to Mrs. Sutherland, married life ran smoothly until her husband joined a club and started staying out every night and Sunday as well. When she tried to get him to stay home, she said, Sutherland cursed her and punched her.

She also asked for custody of a son, Norman E., 11.

Charging desertion James H. Wood of Beverly sought a divorce from Lillian M. Wood of Lynn. He told Judge Phelan they were married Oct. 28, 1912, and that his wife left him on Aug. 15, 1936.

Two sons, James, 25, and Richard, 27, testified for Wood and corroborated his testimony charging Mrs. Wood with staying out nights. Wood said he had only seen his wife once since she left his Beverly home.

Judge Phelan took all three of the petitions, which were uncontested, under advisement.

F. D. INSPECTS 2 ARMY POSTS ON WAY BACK

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—With inspections of two booming Army posts scheduled en route, President Roosevelt rode toward Washington today to expedite a $7,000,000,000 program to aid embattled "democracies."

In sanctioning the seizure of Italian, German and Danish commercial vessels in American ports and authorizing the transfer of another consignment of weapons of war to Britain and Greece, the President apparently had begun already to implement his policy of "action and more action."

Additional steps to effect all-out assistance to the foes of those whom the President termed "the most brutal wrongmongers of all time" were in prospect soon after he buckles down to work at the White House. He is due there tomorrow.

The President left his train at Ft. Jackson, S. C., this morning to inspect that big military post. Later in the day he was scheduled to look over Ft. Bragg, N. C., to see how that post is doing its part of the job of building an Army of 2,000,000.

Accompanying Mr. Roosevelt was Harry L. Hopkins, who has been present at some of the epochal steps in the development of the $7,000,000,000 aid program and who appeared likely to be linked with its future.

DIVORCE NEAR?—From Hollywood comes word that the marriage of the Raoul Walshes is heeded for "the rocks." It's rumored that Mrs. Walsh (above) will ask a divorce from the movie director.

College Peace Strike Planned

Delegates to the National Conference for Democracy in Education today were making plans for a general peace strike of college students April 23, following a stormy session at Harvard, during which they twice rejected resolutions condemning foreign isms.

Before they ended the two-day conference, composed of Harvard students and undergraduates of other schools of higher learning, the delegates also voted to oppose racial discrimination against colored persons in college or in the Army.

After an exciting debate, the delegates to the conference voted against suspension of the rules to permit presentation of an anti-ism resolution of F. Stephan McArthur, Jr., Eastern director of the National Foundation of American Youth, which had thrown the first plenary session into an uproar the day previous.

The resolutions committee had ruled "any such proposal as out of order and irrelevant to the educational purposes of the conference."

Italian Line Head 'Knew' U.S. Plan

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—Italo E. Verrando, general manager of the Italian Line in the United States, declared today that the seizure of Italian ships in this country was in accordance with a pre-arranged plan which had been "in the offing for some time."

"All ships were supposed to be seized by the United States government for use as planned," he said. "Everybody knew that."

Verrando did not elaborate.

Jewish Passover Celebrated April 11

Passover, which commemorates freedom of the Jews from Egyptian bondage, will be celebrated Friday evening, April 11, in the homes of Greater Boston Jewry.

Orthodox Jews observe the festival for eight days, reform Jewry for seven days. In homes, the head of each Jewish family will read from the Haggadah, a special book containing the story of Passover, while unleavened bread, or matzoth, will be eaten by the faithful.

King George's Old Swimmin' 'Ole Burns During Raid

LONDON, March 31 (AP)—The select bath club where King George VI and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose learned to swim was destroyed by fire during a recent air raid alert. Officials said the fire was not started by a bomb, however, though they did not give the cause.

An air officer and a fire watcher died in the blaze which destroyed the interior of the club in Dover st.

Nazis Raid Malta, Scottish Radio

BERLIN, March 31 (AP)—German air attacks on army radio stations in northern Scotland and on the Shetland Islands "with visible success" were reported today by the high command.

The daily war bulletin said mines again were dropped in British ports.

The Luftwaffe also was credited with attacks on two Malta airports and against British troops in North Africa.

No British planes entered German territory yesterday or last night, the high command declared.

"Despite unfavorable weather" German bombers were said to have caused serious damage to two large merchant ships, one in the Atlantic, one in the Thames.

ton, he added, would study the legality of the action.

Authorities in Rome withheld comment, but observers predicted the eventual reaction would be strong. The Italian radio questioned the truth of the seizure reports, asserting that since no confirmation had been received the reports would be "another instance of British propaganda."

FRENCH SHIPS NEXT?

The broadcaster said, however, that if the action were true it "would surprise us because, being unjustified, it would appear to be inspired by motives far from peaceful."

He added that if the Italian crews had intended to sabotage the ships "they already would have had opportunity to do so."

Unarmed federal officials in New York were quoted as saying that although no order had been issued it was "quite possible" that the government would take over the $60,000,000 French liner Normandie and five French freighters tied up in New York.

In Berlin, it said the German government's attitude probably would be made known later today.

In Washington, treasury officials said no ships of other nationalities had been seized, but declined to discuss the possibility of other seizures. They added that they would not give advance notice of such seizures.

When the Danish ships were seized, two Icelandic vessels berthed in New York were not disturbed, although Iceland has the same king as Denmark. No official explanation was given, but it was pointed out that while Denmark is occupied by the Germans, Iceland has been occupied by the British.

SEIZED IN PHILIPPINES

Following up yesterday's seizures, the Navy today took under protective custody four Danish ships in Philippine waters. The four, aggregating 23,800 tons, were the Gertrude Maersk, Grete Maersk, Hulda Maersk and Marchen Maersk.

That a violent Axis protest would be forthcoming was taken for granted in informed quarters, and the belief was that the dramatic events of the week-end had brought relations between the United States and the Axis powers close to an open rupture.

STONY SILENCE

German and Italian authorities here maintained a stony silence, pending instructions from the foreign offices, but the master of one Italian ship called the step "an act of war."

In all, some 300,000 tons of shipping were taken into protective federal custody by the Coast Guard in a rapid-fire series of operations from New England to the gulf coast and the Pacific northwest. There were two German ships, 28 Italian and more than 30 of Danish registry.

Twenty of the Italian ships, officials said, had been put "completely out of business" and Capt. Ranise Ernesto of the Italian freighter Mongiola taken over at Galveston, Texas, said he had received orders from the Italian naval attache at Washington to destroy the machinery of his ship.

Informed of this statement, the naval attache refused to discuss the subject. The masters of some other Italian vessels, however, manifested no surprise when the Coast Guard details came aboard, as if they had been expecting just such a visitation.

FOLLOW EXAMPLE

Officials here were of the opinion that there was good ground for the belief that other hemisphere nations would follow the example of the United States in taking over the Axis shipping which has used their harbors as sanctuaries since the start of the war.

It was pointed out that other hemisphere countries long have been considering steps to get control of such idle tonnage.

Chile took the lead in mid-February by seizing three Danish cargo ships. Other American countries have indicated a disposition to take similar action, but were believed to have waited on a decision by the United States.

Germany has about 40 ships in Latin American ports, and Italy considerably fewer.

The government here was believed to have acted primarily because of the reported discovery of sabotage but the decision may also have been influenced by the indications of a concerted German-Italian attempt to get as many Axis ships as possible out of hemisphere ports.

Some Axis ships put out to sea from South American ports during the week-end to try to break through the British blockade, and others apparently were getting ready to depart.

It was the discovery of systematic sabotage—as reported by the Navy's intelligence service—that started the swift march of week-end events.

The freighter Villaperosa, anchored these many months at Wilmington, N. C., was the ship that touched off the surprising train of events, it was learned. On Saturday, naval officials decided that it was more desirable to have her moored some distance up the river from her anchorage. When they boarded her, they found her machinery completely dismantled.

Acting promptly upon this discovery, the Navy intelligence found other evidence which strengthened the suspicion that widespread, systematic sabotage was in progress, it was said.

The information was laid at once before President Roosevelt, and it was with his approval that the Coast Guard got its orders for the abrupt and surprising rush of activity which put the Axis and Danish shipping in federal custody.

The government acted under a World War anti-sabotage statute which authorizes the Coast Guard to assume custody of foreign ships and remove their crews when a captain permits wilful damage to the vessel. This law also provides that any ship that actually has been sabotaged may be declared forfeited to the United States.

Axis Sailors End Hunger Strike

failed to cheer them. After it was finished they resumed their complaints against being detained at the immigration station, where deportation is ahead.

Officers of the two ships were doubly indignant because, they protested, they are quartered with their common sailors, the immigration officials having made no distinction as to rank.

The seamen under detention on technical charges of overstaying the 60-day leave granted to alien seafarers, comprise 27 officers and men of the Italian freighter Dino and 16 officers and men of the German tanker Pauline Friederich.

RETAIN JUDGE LEVERONI

According to John F. Mulcahy, district director of immigration, the seamen took food last night but refused to use the cots provided and stayed up throughout the night, discussing the seizures.

This morning, Mulcahy said, they refused breakfast.

Meanwhile, the Italian consulate retained Judge Frank Leveroni as counsel for the Italian group. A consulate representative and Judge Leveroni conferred briefly with Mulcahy today at the immigration station.

The men, it was learned, later are to be given hearings and sent back to their countries as quickly as transportation can be found.

Six alien ships in New England ports, five of them here in Boston, were seized in a series of quick raids at the same time that other foreign craft in American ports were taken over on orders of President Roosevelt.

Coast Guardsmen were bristling with guns when they seized three Danish ships last night, two at the Battery Wharf, North End, and another at the National Docks, East Boston.

Earlier they had taken into custody the Nazi tanker, Pauline Friederich and found her engines sabotaged, and the Italian freighter, Dino, which is apparently undamaged.

Then they moved on the Danish freighters Rita Maersk and Hertha Maersk at the North End wharf and on the Emma Maersk, tied up at the National Docks in East Boston. The other seizure was the Danish freighter Jutta, in Portland, Me.

Capt. Hans N. Moller commands Hertha Maersk, Capt. Soelen Bjerreguard is in command of Rita Maersk and Capt. Jorgen Knudsen the Emma Maersk.

This last craft has been quarters for the Danes, to conserve fuel necessary for three ships.

Sabotage aboard the German tanker was reported to have been so extensive to engines and boilers as to make her wholly unfit for service.

The sabotage aboard the Nazi tanker was skillfully done according to reports. The engines had been damaged in places where it would not show, or in spots which were skillfully camouflaged so that casual inspection would not reveal the damage.

Interned Nazi Skipper Hero Of Raider Wolf

Capt. Ernst Heitzmann, master of the German tanker Pauline Friedrich and now held at the immigration station here, was a warrant officer aboard the dread sea raider Wolf during the World War.

The Wolf hunted over 64,000 miles of the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian Oceans without once touching a port for supplies.

Capt. Heitzmann, now 63 years old, wears the Iron Cross for his long service on the raider.

CAMEL — THE SLOWER-BURNING CIGARETTE

Labor Army Starts For New U. S. Bases

Without drums or bugles, parades or fanfare, the civilian A. E. F. of 1941 is moving over the rolling seas—not with the clanking of arms but with the jingling of tools.

It is the civilian American Expeditionary Force on its way to build the Army and Navy bases on islands acquired from Great Britain in the swap for 50 overage destroyers.

Thus far only the vanguard of the American skilled workers has been despatched to seven of the eight sites leased by the British to the United States.

Construction contracts for the eighth base, in the Bahamas, have not yet been concluded.

15,700 IN "FIRST DRAFT"

Thus far, nearly $150,000,000 has been laid on the line to get the seven bases started, through a veritable drove of contractors—but this sum is only a beginning.

And in the "first draft" of skilled workers there are 17,700 men, or a good-sized division—with this enrollment almost as complicated as the induction of the soldier army.

However, nobody is seeking exemptions in the recruiting spots, chiefly in New York, because some of the exported carpenters, bricklayers, masons, plumbers, electricians and the like are being paid almost as much per days as selectees in the Army are paid per month.

These $15 and $20 a day skilled workers in the civilian A. E. F. get the same rigorous medical examination, however, and they are fingerprinted and investigated even more in detail.

RIGID EXAMINATION

The more rigid part of the examination is conducted by government officials after the contractor has satisfied himself as to the qualification of an applicant.

Each such accepted mechanic is taken to army headquarters in Church st., Manhatan, for a physical examination and for a quizzing even before being allowed to have a passport picture taken.

Among the contractors, one of the early starters was the Walsh Construction Co. of Davenport, Ia., which also held the Camp Edwards construction contract at Falmouth.

Following is a summarization of the construction program for the seven bases which are drawing workers (the Bahamas base having as yet no figures):

NEWFOUNDLAND—Army Base: Nick F. Helmers, New York; Al Johnson Construction Co., Minneapolis; McWilliams Dredging Co., New York, and A. Guthrie & Co., New York. A $23,400,000 contract requiring an estimated 3500 men. Navy Base, including pier, bulkheads and air field: George A. Fuller Co. and Merritt-Chapman and Scott Corp., both New York. A $14,285,000 contract requiring 2000 skilled workers.

TRINIDAD—Army base, including air field, quarters for troops and dock: Walsh Construction Co., Davenport, and George F. Driscoll Co., Brooklyn, N. Y. A $51,000,000 contract requiring 2500 skilled mechanics. Navy base, including air field and housing facilities for naval personnel: James Stewart & Co., Inc., the H. J. Deutchbein Co. and Peter F. Connolly Co., all New York. An $11,487,000 contract requiring 1000 m echanics.

$19,000,000 FOR BERMUDA

BERMUDA—Army base: Arthur A. Johnson Corp., Necaro Corp. and Vermila-Brown Co., all New York A $19,000,000 contract requiring an estimated 1250 workers. Navy base (Hamilton harbor): F. H. McGraw Co. and Purdy & Henderson, both New York. A $9,150,000 contract requiring 2000 workers.

JAMAICA—Army base at Kingston: Contract yet to be awarded. Estimated cost $5,000,000, with estimated 1000 men needed. Navy base: Frederick Snare Corp., New York. A $2,300,000 contract requiring an estimated 800 workers.

SAINT LUCIA—Army base: Minder Construction Co., Chicago. A $3,000,000 contract requiring an estimated 800 mechanics. Navy base: Arundel Corp. and Consolidated Engineering Co., both Baltimore. A $1,810,000 contract requiring 500 workmen.

ANTIGUA — Army base: S. J. Groves & Sons Co., Minneapolis. A $2,880,000 contract requiring an estimated 750 skilled workers. Navy base: Arundel Corp. and Consolidated Engineering Co., both Baltimore. A $2,000,000 contract requiring an estimated 600 workers.

BRITISH GUIANA—Army base: Elmhurst Construction Co., Inc., Corona, L. I. A $3,000,000 contract requiring 1000 mechanics.

ULTIMATUM BY HITLER TO SLAVS IS NEAR

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 31 (AP)—Relations between Germany and Yugoslavia grew worse by the hour today and the German legation secretary declared that only an "unexpected miracle" could save the situation.

The secretary announced that German Minister Viktor von Heren was leaving for Berlin, and at the same time the Yugoslav minister to Germany, Dr. Ivo Andric, arrived unexpectedly from Germany.

An unofficial German source declared Hitler intended to wait only until midnight to issue an ultimatum demanding demobilization of the 1,200,000-man Yugoslav army—the same demand which was reported to have touched off last week's upset of Yugoslavia's "Axis" government and the catapulting of King Peter II to the throne.

WAR MACHINE READY

Hitler was said by this source to be waiting only until all Axis nationals could get out of the country, and then if the Yugoslavs failed to meet the expected ultimatum Germany would set her war machine rolling.

A great exodus of Axis nationals, on orders from Rome and Berlin, was proceeding. All trains leaving the city last night and early this morning for Germany an' Italy were jammed, and many seeking to leave were left standing on the station platforms.

The deadline for completion of this exodus was reported set for midnight.

SITUATION "HOPELESS"

The German legation secretary who yesterday described the situation as "serious but not hopeless" declared today it was "practically hopeless" and added: "A decisive turn for the better is not impossible, but it would be an unexpected miracle."

A special train ordered for tonight was expected to take the last of the Axis nationals except legation members out of the country. Others had hurried out in excited crowds, jamming automobiles, river boats, and almost hourly trains last night.

Their home governments ordered them to quit not only Serbia but the reportedly friendlier provinces of Croatia and Slovenia. Three thousand were hurrying from Crotia alone.

British Tell of Epic Sea Fight Italy Lost

forces made contact with an Italian flotilla of cruisers and a Littorio class battleship near the western end of the Greek island of Crete.

A second Italian force, including two battleships, cruisers and destroyers also was reported by air scouts slightly to the north.

RAF BOMBERS HELP

British fleet air arm torpedo bombers immediately flew from the British warships heavily attacking the Littorio and cutting her normal top speed of 32 knots down to 15 with several hits which seriously damaged her.

Royal Air Force bombers also joined in the attack, scoring hits on cruisers and destroyers.

British fleet units pursued the Littorio, but contact was made only as darkness fell and it was not known whether she was hit again.

All the British forces then joined in the attack, crippling the cruisers Pola, Zara and Fiume with 15-inch shells.

Destroyers followed up the fusillade and rammed home torpedoes which finished the cruisers off in a convulsive death dive into the sea.

300 ITALIANS PERISH

A fourth cruiser was believed also to have gone down under the guns of the 30,600-ton Warspite, the Valiant, a sistership, and the 31,100-ton Barham, which smashed the Vincenzo Gioberti and Maestrale to bits.

Another Italian destroyer, which launched torpedoes as it was withdrawing behind a heavy smoke-screen, also may have been hit, the British declared.

They said some damage was known to have been inflicted on other Italian ships.

After the smoke of battle had cleared away, British warships picked up 849 Italian sailors and 61 officers from life rafts. Because the presence of German aircraft around the British ships made further rescue operations impossible, officers asserted, at least 300 more Italian sailors are known to have perished.

This flagship sighted three cruisers and from two to four destroyers about 150 miles west of Crete at 9 p. m. Friday.

EYEWITNESS' STORY

"Shortly after 9 o'clock," a gunnery officer on the Warspite told me, "the battleships Warspite, Valiant and Barham were ordered to close position after an unidentified vessel was reported stopped.

"At 10 o'clock we were approximately in position.

"At 10.20 we sighted a number of darkened ships on our starboard bow.

"Almost simultaneously we were challenged by another ship on the port beam. The fleet was turned to starboard to bring us on opposite course to the remaining cruisers and our heavy armament was brought to readiness.

"A few seconds later one of our destroyers, the Greyhound, switched her searchlight on a third ship in the enemy's line. We recognized her as one of the eight-inch-gun cruisers of the Zara class. Subsequently it was learned she was the Fiume.

WARSPITE OPENS FIRE

"The Warspite's 15-inch guns at once opened fire at very close range. The first broadside struck the cruiser with devastating effect.

"The whole ship, from foremast funnel to aft burst into a mass of flames. The after turret was blown clean over the side. After one more broadside caused a fresh outburst of fire, the ship was hopelessly crippled.

"We switched fire to the next cruiser in line, the Zara. Again the first salvo produced an incredible effect. She burst into flames.

"By now the entire battle fleet was in action. Destroyers sank the cruiser Pola. Our searchlight illuminated two enemy destroyers. These were ideally placed for torpedo attacks against us and turned and launched torpedoes."

ADMIRAL PRAISES MEN

Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, the British commander-in-chief, praised his men in a message:

"Operations just concluded have given us a notable success over the enemy. Skillful handling of our cruisers and untiring efforts of the fleet air arm have kept me well-informed of enemy movements and the well pressed attacks of torpedo aircraft on the Littorio so reduced the speed of the enemy that we were able to gain contact during the night and inflict heavy damage.

"The devastating results of the battleships' guns are an ample reward for months of patient training. This work was completed by destroyers in the admirable way we have come to expect from them.

"The contribution of engine-room departments to this success cannot be over emphasized. Their work not only in keeping their ships steaming at high speed for long periods but in work on maintenance under most difficult conditions has been most praiseworthy.

"I am very grateful to all in the fleet for their support on this and all other occasions.

"Well done!"

British Rout Last Italians In Diredawa Rail Center

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, March 31 (AP)—Diredawa, on the Addis Ababa-Jibuti railroad, has been in British hands since Saturday, it was announced officially today.

This puts the British only 206 miles east by railroad from Addis Ababa, Ethiopia's capital, and in control of the only railroad link between that inland city and the coast.

The Italians acknowledged yesterday that Diredawa had been abandoned. The British communique merely said:

"Diredawa was occupied by our troops on the afternoon of March 29."

The British now have pushed about 500 miles into the newest colony in Italy's East African empire since the capture of Fer Fer, on the Ethiopian-Italian Somaliland line, March 6.

Milestones in the advance to the railroad were the capture of Jijiga, March 19, and Harar, one of Ethiopia's most important cities, March 27.

An earlier communique today said the British had occupied Carsa, 20 miles beyond Harar on the way to Diredawa.

The town, approximately half way from Harar to Diredawa on the Addis-Ababa-Jibuti railway, was said to have been entered last Friday.

The British pushed on, clearing obstacles with which the Italians blocked the mountain road, the communique said.

Vichy to File Protest on Convoy Clash

VICHY, France, March 31 (AP)—The French Government announced today it was protesting to London against what was described here as a British attack yesterday on a French convoy in the Mediterranean.

The French said the protest would be made through the United States embassy in London.

The navy ministry declared the convoy's cargo included "neither rubber nor war material nor any food supplies destined for enemies of England.

Instead, it said, the freighters carried 15,000 tons of rice from Madagascar and French Indo-China for Algeria and Marseille; 1500 tons of vegetables and seed from Morocco for the unoccupied zone, and about 7000 tons of oranges from Morocco for Algeria.

Britain Claims Shore Batteries Began Battle

LONDON, March 31 (AP)—British warships, seeking to halt a French convoy, exchanged shots with shore batteries on the Algerian coast in the fourth clash between Britain and her former ally, the admiralty announced.

Britain contended that the French opened fire to prevent the normal process of "visit and search,' and an authoritative source declared she intends "fully to maintain" her belligerent rights of blockade despite French objections.

A spokesman for the ministry of economic warfare said Britain had information that a "German program" for shipments from unoccupied France to Germany included important war materials.

RAF BOMBS GERMAN BATTLESHIPS AT BREST

LONDON, March 31 (AP)—RAF bombers and fighters blasted the French "invasion coast" and German channel shipping by daylight today in a fiery follow-up to a night raid on the Nazi battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau at Brest.

The air over Dover strait was declared "humming" throughout the morning and early afternoon with British planes, and the heavy crump of falling bombs could be heard plainly on this side of the channel.

Observers watching through glasses also saw water shooting into the air near the German-occupied shore. This was believed to be a continuation of attacks on German shipping which earlier in the day was reported by the air ministry to have left two German tankers afire and sinking off Le Havre.

AVENGES CONVOY LOSS

In last night's attack on Brest the air ministry said that no direct hits were observed on the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, but that their docks were "straddled from all directions by medium, large and very large bombs."

The 26,000-ton Nazi sister ships are believed by the British to have led the assault by surface craft and U-boats in recent merchant operations in the Atlantic. The Germans reported 126,000 tons of British ships were sunk in combined German naval assaults on convoys beginning March 22.

NAZI FLIER DOWNED

Watchers on the channel coast said a British Spitfire pilot apparently shot down one of four Messerschmitt fighters he was seen stalking at 20,000 feet over the channel today.

The night raid on Brest, reported by the air ministry to have been carried out by "a powerful force" of British bombers, was said to have left furious fires blazing.

These operations were followed up today, an official announcement declared, by a raid in which British bombers scored five direct hits on two German tankers off Le Havre. Both tankers were said to have been "seen to be on fire and sinking."

Huge Nazi Guns Shell Dover Area

LONDON, March 31 (INS)—German long-range guns sent a spasmodic barrage of shells crashing into the Dover area shortly before 11 a. m. today.

Throwing the giant projectiles from the French coast, the German gunners were aided by brilliant sunshine and good visibility.

ONE OF THE CUPIDS in Walt Disney's "Fantasia" aids a pretty centaurette in her prompting. Beginning today, and through Friday, all service men in uniform in whatever service, Army, Navy or Marine Corps, will be admitted to all performances of "Fantasia," now in the third month at the Majestic Theater, at half price.

Nora Ford Stars In Casino Revue

Back again to repeat her triumphs at Hanover street's Casino is Nora Ford, vivacious and talented.

Nora Ford

Appearing with this Hub favorite in the current week's revue are Petite Carroll and Jerri McCauley, the former a New York night spot success and the latter in her second week at the Casino.

Topping the comedy division is Harry "Boob" Myers, one of burlesque's outstanding eccentric comics. With him are the well-upholstered Freddie Lewis, Bob Rogers, dependable straightman; Bert Betrand, Lou Caron and others.

Lee Marmer and Elinor Walent also appear to lend feminine charm to the many comedy scenes.

'Road to Zanzibar' Opens Next Sunday on Met Screen

At the conclusion of the 1941 Metropolitan Opera season, the Metropolitan Theater will resume its regular picture policy on Sunday with the New England premiere of "Road to Zanzibar," new Paramount musical comedy featuring Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour.

"Dead Men Tell," another in the series of Charlie Chan films, with Sidney Toler as the Oriental sleuth, will be the associate picture.

"Road to Zanzibar" is hailed as an even funnier show than its predecessor, "Road to Singapore," which featured the same starring trio. Among the song hits, written especially for the production by Johnny Burke and Jimmy Van Heusen, are "It's Always You"; "Birds of a Feather," "You're Dangerous," "You Lucky People, You" and "African Etude."

ROMANCES CAST ASIDE BY PHYLLIS BROOKS WHEN BROADWAY ROLES BECKON

Star Prefers Stage to Love

By PEGGY DOYLE

Every once in a while the most beautiful strawberry blonde in town finds herself wondering how it happens she isn't lolling on a yacht weighed down with square-cut emeralds and concerned only with which of a half dozen gilded Prince Charmings to say yes to.

She could be only Phyllis Brooks, the fascinating vixen of "Panama Hattie," whom you'll be seeing in "The Night Before Christmas," the new comedy by Laura and S. J. Perelman, opening tonight at the Plymouth under Courtney Burr's sponsorship.

Miss Brooks was easily the prettiest of "The Night Before Christmas" company, which Producer Burr had assembled late yesterday in the Ritz-Carlton's French Room to meet the press.

She is, you may remember, the erstwhile fiancee of Cary Grant. Hollywood's glamour boy with a sense of humor and presently reported to be on his way to the altar with the fabulously beautiful and wealthy Barbara Hutton Reventlow, of the 5-and-10-cent-store fortune.

But about that yacht and those Prince Charmings . . .

"Well, I get thinking that occasionally. Then I take pause for station identification and I realize I don't give romance a chance the instant I get a stage role. As soon as that happens I give up all my romances, concentrate on my job and love every minute of it.

"Then I get myself a new beau when the show's through and think I'm in love until Broadway beckons again. Uh, huh, I break it up, just like that."

Phyllis, who was looking very Harper's Bazaarish in black crepe and tiny black pompadour hat sprouting a saucy ostrich pom-pon, skirted the question, preferring to talk generally of love, life and the pursuit of fame.

On the other fist, handsome Ruth Weston, brave in a black felt cavalier hat with patriotic emblem and a black crepe dress (that made her appear even slimmer than the minus 13 pounds she lost since she was here in "George Washington Slept Here") talks freely of her love and practically to the exclusion of all else.

"Ted and I have been married 3½ years. He's wonderful, but please don't write about him (this after relating a story about their pre-engagement days that wasn't meant to be told). He's a producer and director but good. Before that he was a dancer. Imagine that, a dancer! I hate to think of his having been a dancer."

Somebody said he was a good dancer and then there was no chance whatever of getting Miss Weston to talk about Miss Weston, she preferring to listen to this, to her, infinitely more interesting subject.

For your information Miss Weston is a former Boston girl whose father was a celebrated newspaper editor.

FREDRIC MARCH, the movie star, and his wife, Florence Eldridge, will co-star in "Hope for a Harvest," Sophie Treadwell's new play opening next Monday evening at the Colonial.

Alpini's Triple Show Policy Draws Crowds

By SAM BERENSON

Our Monday morning posy to the charming Yolla Galla, whose voice is the starry attraction in the current Club Mayfair revue . . . and this combination of beauty and a rare singing talent is a treat that will not be passed up by many of the stay-up set . . . additionally does the Mayfair offer a solid bill of club talent.

Summing up to a must for your calling list . . . the Rannie Weeks' music . . . Your attention is due the Blue Room at the Hotel Westminster, where general Harry Drake has another tempting show treat on tap for the week . . . a bright Manhattan production, with breath-taking beauty and top-flight talent blends into one of the Rialto's gayest shows . . . the Jimmie McHale rhythm here . . . got this down . . . A major turn-over in the Will (Eight to the Bar) Bradley crew . . . with departing pianist Freddie Slack planning his own band.

A new revue swings into the town's popular Versailles . . . thus giving the after-dusk set further opportunities to applaud . . . for the entertainment here has been standout all season, and this in-coming revue is as smart and delightful as anything witnessed here in many a Rialto moon . . . a suavely balanced offering . . . plus the slick horn-blowing of ace trumpeter, Bobby Hackett . . . To the Cocoanut Grove tonight comes a well-rounded revue, top-starring the clever comedy act—"Elsie, the Barnyard Belle" . . . a hilarious routine . . . with well merited laurels to acrobatic dancers Robinson & Martin, and dance stylists Tut Mace & Gary Leon . . . it's the ever popular Mickey Alpert orchestra for the dance-minded . . . and the usual delightful Thursday theatrical soirees under this maestro's leadership . . . Once again does Artie Shaw disappear from the public eye—though not from the public ear . . . for Artie henceforward limits his band direction to recordings only . . . From south of the equator come the Cheena de Simone Dancers to top-bill the new revue at the Beachcomber . . . a colorful troupe, with a distinctive performance of South American rhythms . . . but smart!

Princess Orelia and a quintet of sensational Cuban dancers currently at the Latin Quarter, are being acclaimed as the most unusual night club presentation of the year. They offer an exciting voodoo ritual dance and an authentic version of "Shoeing the Mare," a native Cuban dance, often seen in the back country of Cuba. May, June and Penny, a trio of petite girl performers, provide more than a moderate amount of thrills. Charles and Jeanne Brewster, Harry Spear and the Latin Quarter ballet and the four Gentlemen . . . Pat Rooney comes in for two weeks next Sunday.

LARRY THORNTON
Dreamwold Hall

There's a light-hearted spring revue titled "April Showers" at the Hotel Essex tonight . . . and one which should prove mighty popular with the patrons of this down-by-the-depot salon . . . topbilling goes to Mona Grant and Antoinette Nagay with that reliable Billy Kelly again directing the merriment . . . three shows nightly at 7:30, 10, 12 p. m.

Recommended ear-bending: the smart Harry James' trumpeting in his waxing of "Flight of the Bumblebee" . . . Host Cappy welcomes in another torrid show at his hospitable North Easton rendezvous . . . here's plenty of action, loads of color . . . while much favorable comment is being heard on the type of entertainment Host Cappy is producing these spring evenings.

That Manhattan-styled entertainment continues its merry way at Blinstrub's South Boston Village . . . for a typical Broadway production bows into this colorful spot tonight to give Rialto roamers one of the best show values this town can offer . . . strikingly fast and well balanced, this slick bill merits a date for the week . . . plenty of talent, abetted by the capable emceeing of Boyd Heathen and the melody-making of the Karl Rohde band . . . Al Donahue can't get a bass player to stick . . . the Army has already swiped two away from him . . . Little Dixie expects to reopen on Wednesday.

Manager Jack Fisher of the Cave announces that a new and sparkling floor show is on tap this week . . . this room has become one of the favorite rendezvous for those who want atmosphere . . . Lew Conrad and his band getting a nice hand of applause with their style of playing . . . this band is tops and one of the reasons why this room has been clicking . . . always a good floor show and excellent food . . . special rates for banquets and parties . . . for those who travel through Maine, we suggest trying the Clarke's Normandie at Dunster Corner, between Biddeford and Portland.

Hotel bits: Manager Seaver of the Lenox reports that Deone Parish has been a smash success at the Blue Train . . . for the popular Deone has quite a following in these parts . . . and is still adding to it by her smart work at the Lenox . . . The Hotel Manger continues to leap ahead in fine strides . . . with due credit to Manager Laurdrie who has worked wonders here . . . George Turain, hand-ball champ and manager of the Touraine appears fit as a fiddle . . . should retain his championship without too much difficulty . . . And is Flo Pini of the Broadway happy . . . what with so many of the Metropolitan Opera folks stopping at his hostelry.

The tables are turned on Izzy Ort, for host Izzy now finds himself warmly welcomed back to town after his Florida sojourn . . . brown as a berry is biggie Ort, and a-rarin' to go on his ideas for new and striking entertainment at his Grille Room . . . commencing tonight conga music and free conga lessons will be offered diners at 6:00 p. m. in the Grille by a conga band which he has brought to Boston direct from the Ball Club on Miami Beach . . . new revue tonight include Screen and Johnson, sepia dancing comics, direct from the Apollo theater in New York and Archie Onrie, another new arrival from the Miami winter season. Don Humbert provides music in the afternoons at Ort's Grill and Chick Harris' band plays in the El Tropico Room evenings.

That three-show-nightly policy at Alpini's makes this rendezvous a mighty popular calling place . . . for action aplenty may always be looked for in this fast-paced Beacon st. oasis . . . plenty of speed, fun, and color . . . with an especially praise-worthy dance crew in the Eddie Watson lads . . . Merrily swinging on is Dorgan's Old Harbor House, where more and more patrons are coming to find the atmospheric setting which this seashore plaisance features . . . smart entertainment is emphasized here . . . plus a capable dance crew and tasty shoe cuisine . . . "I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Yep! It's a great feelin' to be back home again on Essex Street even though the only palm trees around are in my ultra-smart El Tropico Room! I'm still hilarious from the gay time I had at Miami Beach. I've brought back the greatest collection of freckles ever seen on one man. In fact, I've got more freckles than hair!

I wuzn't strictly a playboy at Miam. Beach: I wuz also a student and I'm goin' to apply what I learned to my Grill and El Tropico Room. I've got a reputation for good shows, good fun and a lot of other things and now, I'm startin' to make a rep for good food and beginnin' today, four bits will buy a tasty lunch or dinner in my Grill and the grub is goin' to be the best that dough can buy. I'll have a blue plate special that'll have the town talkin'.

I fetched back a very good conga band from the Ball Club at Miami Beach and here's the deal. They'll play in the Grill every night from six to six-thirty and give free conga lessons to patrons. Then, they'll scram upstairs to the El Tropico Room and dish out Latin rhythms.

In the Grill, there are some new faces like Screen and Johnson, sensational sepia hoofers and comics and Archie Onrie, comedy juggler. Don Humbert is on hand every afternoon and on WHDH daily at 3:15 and Chick Harris and his boys kick the gong around in the El Tropico Room. Drop in tonight and visit my Grill and El Tropico Room at 25 Essex St., near Washington. Advt.

CASA MANANA SURPRISE

Bossman Jack Brown of the Huntington ave. Casa Manana has sent out word that he is about ready to spring one of the greatest surprises yet unfolded in Hub cabaret circles. Meanwhile, Jack is offering consistently good entertainment and dance music nightly at his uptown rendezvous with Lou Carter's orchestra responsible in a large way for present good business.

Bulk of Hayden Millions Go To Aid Needy Boys

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—The bulk of the $52,410,065 estate of the late Charles Hayden, banker, goes to the Charles Hayden Foundation for needy boys and young men.

An appraisal today showed the foundation would receive $49,371,921.

Hayden stated in his will that the future of this nation and the world "depends in no small part upon the young men of the United States."

Hayden's alma mater, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was left $1,000,000.

A brother, J. Willard Hayden, of Lexington, Mass., was bequeathed a life income from a $2,000,000 trust fund. After his death, one-half of this trust goes to Mrs. J. Willard Hayden so long as she lives and remains unmarried. At the death of both, the principal reverts to the foundation.

In addition, the sister-in-law receives $100,000 outright.

Emily K. Ide, Cambridge, Mass., Ernest Segar, West Newton, Mass., receive annuities of $5000 each, and Arthur C. Hoyt, Woodville, Mass., former Hayden chauffeur, a $2160 annuity. Bequests of $100,000 each are made to Mrs. Alice Lee Stevenson, Boston, and Mrs. Reinette S. Aborn, Newtonville, Mass.

Hayden left $10,000 to his secretary, Edna Hunsicker, and $2000 to his assistant secretary, Lona A. Becker, Plainfield, N. J.

Colgate Profit Cut by Taxes

NEW YORK, March 31 (INS)—Net profit of Colgate-Palmolive Peet Co. for 1940, excluding foreign income, was $4,044,769 or $1.72 a common share, E. H. Little, president, announced today in the annual report. Earnings in 1939 were $2.74 a share with foreign income included in net profit.

Foreign profits or dividends last year totaled $1,136,670 which was added to reserve for contingencies.

The company had net sales of $75,024,221 in 1940 and $76,767,480 in 1939.

Increased domestic taxes and other expenses affected profits last year, Little reported.

Outstanding preferred stock has been reduced by $11,878,630 since December, 1937, it was reported, and preferred dividend requirements trimmed from $931,469 to $531,250 for 1941.

GIRL, TWO MEN INJURED IN TAXI COLLISION

Dragged from a flaming taxicab after a collision near Columbia circle, a Dorchester girl barely escaped with her life today while two men also suffered injuries in the accident.

The girl victim, Miss Dolly Ames 27, of Saranac st., Dorchester, was knocked senseless by the force of the crash and lay helpless in the rear of the cab when the machine suddenly burst into flames.

Edward F. Thomas, 27, of East Springfield st., South End, the driver, pulled her from the blazing wreck. She suffered only superficial burns, according to City Hospital officials, but received a severe brain concussion. Thomas was cut about the head.

Metropolitan police said the taxicab was hit in the rear by a sedan which was demolished. Larry Saltmarsh, 30, of Webster rd., East Milton, a passenger in the sedan, received head and chest bruises.

A passing motorist, Detective John Geoghan of the police headquarters squad, telephoned an alarm from a police box. Several pieces of fire apparatus were required to extinguish the flames, which destroyed the taxicab.

New Suit Ends Isle's Dynasty

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31 (AP)—A new suit of clothes has broken Pitcairn Island's political dynasty.

For 150 years after Fletcher Christian led his companions in the mutiny on the Bounty to the island, one of his direct descendants has been magistrate. In recent years two Christian brothers alternated in the office. One died. The other declined nomination for the post. His time was too occupied with religious work among the island's 200 inhabitants. Now the officer is Arthur H. Young.

Ada Christian, widow of one of Fletcher Christian's descendants, wrote a friend here that Young, her cousin, recently had received a new suit with which he dazzled the electorate. He won the election.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL, to whom millions look for leadership and guidance at all times and particularly in this troublous year of 1941, does not believe the American character is as decadent as some observers would have us believe.

The Cardinal tells us:

"Human nature is not all bad. We whose entire lives are devoted to religion know that—and it is a comfort to us all.

"This spiritual life exists quietly. It does not come to public attention forcefully. But we priests know that it exists.

"Crowded churches in the early morning—the outpouring of workers to the evening devotions—that is the life that the writers don't see or don't write about.

"In the midst of all the depressing experiences of today there is the Light that shineth in the darkness. There is the Light of the World. Unless we keep that before us life would be intolerable.

"It is the little people of the world who are keeping this religious spirit alive; the little people you never hear about nor read about in books—not the great notables, not those who have great vanity."

CARDINAL O'CONNELL
Inspires Men to Think

Deep down in his heart every man knows that the Cardinal speaks the truth.

For every woman who makes the front page with a scandalous divorce there are a hundred women who are devoted wives and mothers.

For every actress who achieves the limelight by indecent conduct there are ten thousand women who serve humanity by unselfish work in hospitals, schools and churches.

For every man who dissipates his talents and energies in licentious living there are unnumbered scores of men who work quietly and honorably to rear sons and daughters who will be a credit to God and country.

For every person who gives lip service to democracy while he perverts it with his acts there are millions of persons who still kneel in prayer morning and night, asking the Father in Heaven to give them strength to be better Catholics, Protestants or Jews.

The world has heard too little about these substantial people in the past, and that is one of civilization's most grievous faults.

The general who leads his regiments through a country, burning homes and slaughtering women and children is apt to have his memory perpetuated by a marble monument in a city park.

The politician who plots and schemes to lure a nation into war for no other reason than the satisfaction of his own lust for power often has great temples named after him.

BUT WHO EVER READ ABOUT ANY CITY'S SPENDING TEN DOLLARS FOR A LITTLE PIECE OF GRANITE TO HONOR A MOTHER WHO TAKES IN WASHINGS, SCRUBS NEIGHBORS' FLOORS AND SUFFERS ALL KINDS OF HARDSHIPS TO OBTAIN FOOD, CLOTHING AND EDUCATION FOR HER LITTLE FAMILY?

Yet the mother is greater than all the generals and all the politicians.

Her faith and loyalty are the hope of civilization.

Long after the Hitlers, the Mussolinis and the Churchills are gone and forgotten, the good in the mother's heart will endure and save the world.

One of Cardinal O'Connell's greatest gifts is his ability to make men THINK.

If Americans THINK now they will exercise their democratic rights and make their peaceful wishes plain to those leaders who have been shrewdly, and up to now successfully, dragging the United States into the European sea of blood.

WE ARE PLEASED to say a good word for the Travelers' Aid Society of Boston as it celebrates its 25th anniversary.

The number of persons the society has assisted since 1916 is much larger than the average person suspects, especially in view of the fact that in the typical year of 1937 the Society handled 6700 new cases and made nearly 300 investigations at the request of out-of-the-city agencies.

We were glad to see the Travelers' Aid given membership in the Boston Community Fund a few years ago.

And we hope—especially on this happy Silver Anniversary occasion—that the support will always continue to be generous.

THE EXPECTANT father continues to be the subject of many a jest. The poor, palpitating pappy receives little sympathy and is expected to join in the laughter at the aforementioned gags. All husbands suffer somewhat before and during blessed events. Some suffer much more than others. In fact, medical records indicate some husbands become sympathetically ill with the expectant mother. These husbands even have morning sickness." Some of them are so in tune with their mates they can describe the pains of childbirth. What kind of an expectant father is the man at your house, ma'am?

PASSING BY: Fiorello La Guardia. Nearly the best mayor New York ever had. La Guardia enlisted in the Army on July 25, 1917, while he was a Congressman. He wanted to resign as a Representative but Congress wouldn't let him. For some time after this he was compelled to borrow money to support himself though an officer in the U. S. Army. Seems there is a law no man can hold two government positions at the same time. So La Guardia couldn't get his salary as a Congressman because he was an Army officer, and the Army wouldn't pay him because he was a Congressman. Finally Congress gave him a leave of absence with a Congressman's pay. His Honor can read the news of the bombers aboard with special interest because he has flown bombers on raids over enemy territory. Among the Mayor's innumerable triumphs in civilian life is the time he cooked the family dinner and his wife said quite sincerely: "Fiorello, you're a better cook than I am" . . . Prof. Irving Fisher, Of the Yale faculty. The professor has some ideas on the matter of money which has to be spent within a month or it loses its value. Seems a fantastic idea but it was successfully tried out in Florence in the Middle Ages and brought a period of great prosperity to that city.

SIDELIGHTS: Noted a dispatch telling of two couples who went on a trip and exchanged their mates for duration of the trip. Who remembers a musical show: "So Long, Letty." In this, two couples exchanged mates. Couples were played by Charlotte Greenwood, Walter Catlet, May Boley and Hal Skelly. That was one of the funniest and most tuneful musical shows I ever saw . . . In London a gas mask for a dog costs equivalent of $16 . . . "Some excitement at our house today," a colleague just said to me. "My young daughter is going on her first date tonight. First time she has ever been out alone with a boy." Do you remember a similar occasion in your youthful experience, ma'am? And how about your daughter's first date?

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -:- MY DAY

MOBILE, Ala., Sunday—Friday morning we all sat solemnly around a table and discussed business of which I knew little, for this was my first meeting with the Rosenwald Fund trustees. After a delicious lunch at Dorothy Hall, the Tuskegee guest house, my real education for the day began.

Incidentally, I would like to say a word about this guest house at Tuskegee Institute. It was arranged years ago by the college to receive its white guests and is a most comfortable and homelike place. The students in the home economics and commercial dietetics course cook and serve the food, and better food and service I have never seen.

Flowers are charmingly arranged and, as I came up the stairs, I looked straight at a very good photograph of my uncle, Theodore Roosevelt. His picture looked down at me also from the wall at the trustees meeting, so that I felt that the family has had some connection here over a fairly long period of years.

NOW LET me tell you about our afternoon. The first thing I noticed is that the land about us is badly eroded. Neither white nor colored farmers can make a living on this land as it is. None of them can afford to put in the capital which will be needed to bring it back, and at the same time keep their families from starvation.

Even the good farmer barely makes a meagre existence. That, I think, explains the fact that, without assistance from otuside, the schools are at such a level that one woman has to handle six grades.

We were, of course, visiting Negro schools, and it is fair to suppose that white schools would be better. Even one hundred per cent better than those we saw, however, would hardly satisfy you if you believed education was necessary for participation in our democratic form of government.

Three of the schools we visited have some help from Tuskegee Institute. One very important way of co-operating with the rural schools is to send out internes for three months to live in a given neighborhood and to help with the teaching in the schools while they are taking their last year of training as teachers at Tuskegee.

Only one school which we visited yesterday includes two years of high school. Most of them have only six grades. A school which received no help, was taught by one woman who tried to give a rounded program to youngsters in all six grades.

The effort to provide a hot lunch interested me. In one school, the teachers live in the school and, therefore, are able to cook and serve lunch on the premises. In other schools, the food is cooked in the homes and brought to the schools and warmed up on the stoves which heat the schools these chilly days.

Alabama has taken some forward steps—she provides free school books and her teachers receive slightly higher salaries than teachers receive in some of the neighboring states.

DONOVAN REVEALS RAID FACTS

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, March 31—Col. William J. Donovan, who just returned from England, discussed some phases of his trip with a group of friends . . . "Frankly," one of them asked, "what has been the effect of the raids upon Coventry, Birmingham and the other industrial cities of England? What do you reckon has been the production loss?" . . . "I'd say that the Nazi bombing caused a loss in production of from 12 to 15 per cent," replied Col. Donovan, "—which isn't any more than we're suffering now in this country through strikes" . . . Theodore S. Kenyon, president of the N. Y. Patent Bar Ass'n, spoke at a public meeting and then showed the list of speakers to his young daughter . . . The list included Edna Ferber, Edward G. Robinson, John Kieran, F. P. A., Mayor LaGuardia, John L. Lewis and Herbert Bayard Swope . . . "Dad," the girl told Kenyon, "the only one on this list I never heard of before—is you."

POLITICS DEPT.: Quentin Reynolds lunched with Wendell Willkie last week. Reynolds asked Willkie for an autographed picture, and Willkie asked Reynolds to autograph his book, "The Wounded Don't Cry." Reynolds, ever a Democrat but also an admirer of his host, wrote in his book: "To the Man Who Was Good Enough to Fight the Champ" . . ." Willkie then asked Reynolds, who is returning to London, whether he would return to the top-floor London flat where he lived last year. "What about the bomb shelter there?" Willkie queried . . . "I'll have the autographed pictures of the four toughest guys in the world, hanging above me," said Reynolds, "—the President's, Churchill's, LaGuardia's and yours—and that's shelter enough for me."

COOKING DEPT.: "Bubbles" Schinasi was one of a group of cafe socialites who attended a party at the Shanty, on E. 53d. Miss Schinasi was asked whether she would cook her own food, as the others were doing . . . "I'll cook," she stated, "only for a news picture" . . . And so Bubbles donned an apron and posed—while preparing a hamburger. "How about removing that big ring?" someone suggested . . . "Oh, no," she explained, fingering the huge stone, "I always need that—to measure the size of the hamburger."

LOCAL NEWS: Naval officials insist that the British warship which is coming here for repairs is the "Illustrious" . . . Virgil Reed is being boomed for the job of director of the U. S. Bureau of Census . . . The third trio of replacements, in the "Life With Father" family, will go into the show this week-end. Larry Robinson, who was the youngest one in the original company, is growing so fast that he hopes to return to the cast next year, in an older-brother role . . . Don Francisco has formulated a new radio plan, for Nelson Rockefeller's Pan-American department.

CRIME DEPT.: When Gov. James of Pennsylvania was faced with a request to call out the militia, in the strike flare-up in Bethlehem and Johnstown, a reporter remembered the time when James' predecessor, George Earle, faced a similar situation, during the Little Steel strike in Johnstown, a few years ago . . . The then Gov. Earle phoned his attorney-general at midnight and asked: "Has Eugene Grace done anything for which I can put him in jail?" . . . An editor telephoned Mrs. Earle, on the night her husband, the Minister to Bulgaria, was reported to have slugged a Nazi who threw a champagne bottle at him, for requesting a Sofia orchestra to play "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" . . . "Have you any comment to make about it?" the editor asked . . . "Well, you know," she replied, "that song is No. 1 on my husband's hit-parade."

BOOK DEPT.: Sinclair Lewis, reminiscing of the days when he resided in France, told of the period when Michael Arlen lived at his house. "We had a lot of fun," said Lewis, "despite the fact that Arlen always was impressed by a title. If anyone with a big title invited him, he'd always go there" . . . "Did you ever discuss this with Arlen?" Lewis was asked . . . "As a matter of fact, I once started to," he answered, "but before I could finish my question, a Marquis phoned to invite Arlen to his house—so he packed his bags and left."

BOSTON After DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

BLITZFLAMED OUT OF BUSINESS a year ago this Spring, after rejuvenating the once popular Brown Derby into a superior success than it had ever been before, Kitty Brando is returning to the wars, Thursday of this week . . . The saucer-eyed young mistress of nightclubs has signed to guide the destinies of the smart Embassy Room, in Boylston st. near the Fens.

THIS, HOWEVER, IS FAR FROM the whole story of the popular Kitty's backswing into action . . . She has merged her talents and charm with the money, energy and experience of a gentleman named Peterson—John Peterson, I think . . . Mr. Peterson is an operator of hotels.

QUITE AN operator, his rivals are saying . . . His name has been popping up in conversations having to do with the hotel business in Boston (under the Emergency) since last Summer . . . At that time he acquired the Fritz-Carlton, of which the Embassy Room is an adjunct.

NEXT HE ACQUIRED THE HOTEL BUCKMINSTER—a prime property with a couple of radio studios and a huge illuminated sign on its roof as steady, paying patrons . . . The story now has it that Mr. Peterson has arranged for the purchase of at least two more hotels, both in the uptown district, and the lease or purchase of another, in the midtown sector.

ON THE VERGE of becoming a magnate, we hear that Mr. Peterson deemed it both efficient and expedient to turn over the assorted cocktail lounges, Spanish patio-rooms, horseshoe bars and restaurants to an associate director, or directress. (Meaning La Brando.)

THE DEAL IS NOT A PARTNERSHIP, but friends of Miss Brando say she has consummated a very interesting dicker whereby as the profits roll in, she will participate . . . The Buckminster will acquire a license to sell spirituous liquors . . . (This observer always thought it had one, but the truth is that it hadn't.)

THE PROXIMITY OF THAT hospice to Fenway Park should prove a boon in the summertime, dependent more or less on whether the Red Sox turn up any pitchers . . . But the important news of the Brando-Peterson negotiations, from an after-dark standpoint, is that the the capacious Spanish Room in the Buckminster's nether reaches, will be converted into a night club.

MEANTIME, THE CHARMING MISS BRANDO will renew acquaintance with the legion of personal followers who helped her make the Brown Derby the startlingly successful enterprise it proved to be a year ago this time.

KITTY'S FOLLOWERS were of the spending type, too . . . More pleasant sounds of the night, such as the popping of corks out of the mouths of bottles of champagne, were to be heard in the Brown Derby than any of its competitive oases . . . The Embassy Room, Fritz-Carlton Hotel, will be the young lady's address, and reservations are accepted now for the opening Thursday.

ALMA SHEPARD, an excellent singer who is described sometimes as a medium-light edition of Kate Smith, has the call to do the vocalizing, and a good small unit of competent musicians could get a job at once if it were able to impress Miss Brando sufficiently.

MONDAY MUSINGS: Something like the millennium has arrived, as a new fleet of Checker cabs are now for hire in Boston . . . It was our distinction to enjoy the first ride in one of the new vehicles, with the vetern hackneyman, "Dimples" O'Connell, at the wheel.

MAN, YOUTH AND BOY, "Dimples" has been driving cabs since he operated a huge, steel Peerless from a station at the corner of Massachusetts ave. and Huntington ave. (in 1910.) His enthusiasm for his new chariot is something to enjoy . . . The new Checkers are really beauties.

BRENT, RATHBONE IN MASSEY FILM

By Louella O. Parsons

Ilona Massey

HOLLYWOOD, March 31—Ilona Massey, can be a happy girl. She stars with two of our handsomest and best motion picture actors in Edward Small's 'G Man vs Scotland Yard." It would be enough to make any girl happy to have two actors of the caliber of George Brent and Basil Rathbone, both of whom are mighty, mighty popular with the paying customers. This movie is one of those stirring, thrilling melodramas and I hope it is possible to crowd in one little song for Ilona because we all know she has the voice of a lark. Tim Whelan will direct.

Basil, by the way, won the trophy of the American Institute of Voice Teachers for "the best male voice in 1940." He'll use his prize-winning voice in San Francisco with the symphony orchestra when he recites "Peter and the Wolf" on Easter. Also when he appears at Camp Roberts as master of ceremonies.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE

ARRIVING HERE in two weeks is Martha Raye to play one of the leads in "Navy Blues" for Warner Brothers. Then she marries Neal Lang, Miami Beach hotel manager. Martha's return to the screen is interesting. She left movies because she was tired of having the size of her mouth publicized and because she felt she wanted to be more of a glamor girl. She went to New York and made a hit in the Al Jolson show—"Hold On To Your Hat"—not as a glamor girl, mind you, but as a comedienne. She'll have with her in "Navy Blues" Jack Oakie, Jack Haley and Ann Sheridan. Arthur Schwartz and Al Newman will write the music so you can see that Wallis and Warner plan to make this a big time movie.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE is really growing up. She was very cute saying she didn't want her dressing room on the M-G-M lot decorated like a "little girl's" suite and she wants to be in the building with Myrna Loy, Joan Crawford, Garbo and other glamor girls. The news about Shirley is that she's going to be a busy little lady. The minute she finishes "Babes on Broadway" she is starred in "Lazy Bones" with Wallace Beery. 'Tis a story of the waterfront and Shirley plays Wally's motherless youngster.

BOB SPARKS, producer of the famed "Blondie" movie series, is peeved at Chic Young, creator of the comic strip. He says Chic forgot to notify him that Blondie in the newspapers is expecting a blessed event. Says Bob, "it is easy enough to have a baby on paper but in motion pictures we have to know in advance." Blondie's next is "Blondie in Society." Says Sparks, "Society is no place for Blondie to have a baby." So Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake, who play these roles, won't have another Baby Dumpling until much later.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Arline Judge flew to Albuquerque, New Mexico, through all the rain Friday night to meet her boy friend, Huntington Hartford III; Danielle Darrieux is heading for Hollywood, according to Jean Gabin; Lana Turner, now as blonde as Jean Harlow used to be, at Ciro's with Tony Martin and later at Mocambo. I must say the blonde hair is becoming to Lana; talked with Lady Mendl at Ciro's and she tells me she is going away for a few weeks rest. She was flanked by three attentive escorts; Dorothy Lamour and Greg Beautzer also dropped in at Ciro's for a late supper. Dorothy looked so pretty in a great big hat.

THE JACKSON DAY dinner at the Biltmore, honoring Postmaster General Frank Walker, had all the important motion picture people who were in town. Sally Eilers, just back from New York, wore one of her stunning new creations; Frances Farmer was there with Stirling Hayden; Milton Berle as master of ceremonies, as usual, excellent; Daisy Lukas has gone to New York for Paul's opening of "Watch on the Rhine," and, according to tryouts it looks like a hit; Bruce Cabot tells me that he is going to New Orleans for the opening of the picture "Flame of New Orleans."

Smart Set Functions

ONE OF THE YOUNGER set's most recently engaged couples is Dorothy Preston of Hamilton and Charles P. Ware of Milton, who were photographed in a jolly mood between the acts at the opera. Their wedding will be a fashionable North Shore affair in late May or early June. Miss Preston is the daughter of Mrs. P. Preston Cutler of Seven Pines, Hamilton.

By BETTY ALDEN

OPERA MATINEES are few and far between in Boston . . . so fashionable music lovers make the most of the three which occur each spring during the Met's annual Boston engagement . . .

Saturday's audience at "Madame Butterfly" at the Metropolitan Theater provided a colorful preview of the coming Easter Parade and proved to be a mecca for wide-eyed youngsters enjoying their first opera-going thrill . . .

Pretty Mrs. Hamilton Osgood, Jr., was accompanied by her little daughter, Diane, and Mrs. John Moseley Abbott, prominent among the city's younger music patrons, had three little girls in the seats next to her . . . Both mother and daughters sported bright flame camellias on their jaunty afternoon costumes—Mrs. Abbott's dress of black and white checked silk achieved an unusual effect with solid black sleeves . . .

Speaker of the House, Christian A. Herter, escorted his attractive wife who wore a taupe wool dress and cocoa fox jacket brightened by a little turban of flame coque feathers . . . Janet Pierce and her fiance, Perry Johnson, whose wedding on April 19 will be one of the fashionable spring bridals, enjoyed the lilting music of "Madame Butterfly" from orchestra seats and chatted with friends in the foyer during intermissions . .

Priscilla Crocker in Turquoise Wool Outfit

TALL AND STRIKING, Priscilla Crocker of Chestnut Hill wore a turquoise wool outfit as she sipped a cooling drink with her escort in the refreshment room downstairs . . .

Carrie Neal Augustine sported her Scotch clan plaid in a trim little suit and hat, and Nancy Eliot was a modish figure in a black and blue sheer wool suit with a tricky hat made of a band of black, faced with the blue and tied around her hair with a big bow in front . . .

Still other matinee fans were Mrs. Theodore Brown of Milton, with a diamond clip brightening her gold wool dress; Mrs. Reginald Foster, violets adorning her short fur jacket; Mrs. Charlie Buell, Mrs. William Dana Orcutt with her future daughter-in-law, Christine Reid, Priscilla Thorndike, secretary of the Vincent Club, and Lucy Cochrane, who wore the most springlike costume of all—a pink and black printed dress topped by a short beige lynx jacket and a black calot hat tied with a big bow at the nape of her neck . . .

Notes From a Society Editor's Cuff

MRS. ROBERT GARRITT and Mrs. Walter Newbert chaperoned their deb daughters, Emily Garritt and Barbara Ann Newbert, on a week-end trip to Gotham to catch the Hasty Pudding show for the second time, at the Waldorf-Astoria, Saturday night . . .

Patricia Bayne is attending secretarial school and is a speed demon on the typewriter . . . She does forty words a minute already and her name is continually posted on the board for achievement . . . Her close friend and secretarial school classmate, Catharine Ross of Hingham, has given up the course to devote her time to wedding preparations . . .

That traffic jam on Chestnut st. yesterday afternoon was caused by all the well wishers who gathered to drink a toast to Frances McElwain and her fiance, Sam Wakeman . . . The party was held at the home of Fran's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Franklin McElwain . . .

Eleanor Roosevelt, niece of Mrs. Franklin D., will be widely feted during the days preceding her marriage to Edward Proctor Elliott which takes place in Dedham a week from Saturday . . . Mrs. Robert Walcott will be hostess at a dinner party on April 10 . . . The following evening Mrs. John Cutter, the bride's mother, is giving a bridal dinner and on the day of the wedding a luncheon will be given by Mrs. Howard B. Sprague for the wedding party and out of town guests . . . John Roosevelt, the President's son, will be an usher and the bride will be given in marriage by her brother, Henry.

Bridge Party Aids Refugees

Mrs George A. Selleck of Cambridge is chairman of the refugee committee of the Women's International League which is sponsoring a bridge party Friday afternoon, at Phillips Brooks House to raise funds to send refugee children to summer camps.

The party will be held from 2 to 5 and those who do not care to play bridge are invited to join the players for tea. Among those planning to attend are Mrs. Paul H. Kelsey, Miss Blanche McIntire, Mrs James Medbury MacKaye, Mrs. Lewis Palmer, Mrs. George H. Parker, Mrs. Benjamin Selekman and Mrs. Mark Shaw.

Opera Devotees at Somerset

After-the-Opera rendezvous of many fashionable dance lovers is the Balinese Room of the Hotel Somerset where many late comers arrive in full evening regalia and opera programs tucked under their arm.

Mr. and Mrs. John Goodrich, resplendent in opera togs, shared a table for two after the performance of "Tannhauser," as did Mrs. Francis Hart and a friend who had shared her opera seats. Blonde Mrs. Goodrich wore a gown of lavendar crepe with a ruff of violet taffeta outlining the neckline and long drapes of the violet from shoulder to hem. Mrs. Hart accented her black crepe and sequin gown with diamonds and pearls.

When Elizabeth Ware and Albert Gould arrived for one of their many pre-wedding celebrations they immediately stepped out onto the dance floor to acknowledge Jack Marshard's rendition of the wedding march. "Sister," as the bride-to-be is more intimately known, wore a gown of fuchsia and sapphire crepe, with a corsage of gardenias.

Proposing toasts to the couple at the large bridal dinner were the bride's sister, Alice Ware, Peggy Capper with her fiance, William Hagen-Burger, Betty Alden and Lawrence Nowell, and a number of others.

BLONDIE — He Should Have Stood In Bed

SHE FOLLOWED her roomer to the front porch and stood dispiritedly in the doorway of the small two-story house, which stood a shabby block away from the railroad tracks.

Her roomer got into his little car and she waved a listless goodby. The wind whipped her skirts and sent a cold shiver down her spine. The air smelled of snow. It was time to get out her winter coat. The woman's sullen expression changed to one of half-frightened anticipation.

She re-entered the house and went upstairs to the cheerless back bedroom which she shared unwillingly with her husband. In nervous haste she began to unpack the worn cedar chest at the foot of the bed. At the bottom of the chest was the winter coat which she had bought at an August sale and hidden all these months. Tenderly she held it up and caressed its fur collar with her cheek. She was trembling as she slipped it on and surveyed herself in the mirror.

The woman who smiled back was pretty in a soft and tired way. She was probably 30, and when she was 20 her hair had undoubtedly been shining black, her well-shaped mouth without petulance, and her big brown eyes without the deep shadows of discontent.

She took off the coat, got a hanger from the closet, and went downstairs to the small untended back yard. She hung the coat on the clothesline, and stood back and looked lovingly at it. Then her eyes filled wth uneasiness. What would she tell her husband? How would she explain her possession of a sixty dollar coat? She shrugged, and set her lips grimly. She would tell him the truth.

At noon she prepared her husband's tasteless lunch of warmed-up leftovers. There was a lamb chop far back in the ice box and a covered dish of strawberries. She would eat her own lunch later. For weeks now, ever since her coat was purchased, she had had these secret special meals.

Her husband's key turned in the front door. His anxious voice called back to the kitchen. "Hon, I'm home."

"HERE I AM"

He had said the same thing every day for a year, and for a year she had never bothered to answer. He came heavily down the hall into the kitchen, his little apologetic smile turning up the corners of his flaccid mouth.

"Well, here I am," he said bashfully. She saw no need to reply to that either. He went to the sink to wash his hands. "Mike go to work?" Mike had not missed a day in the 12 months he had been their roomer. It was a foolish question. But she knew she had to acknowledge her husband's presence sometime. "Yes," she said.

"That's fine," he said uncertainly. "That's just fine." He surveyed the unattractive table. "This looks just fine, too," he said hollowly.

PETERMAN'S DISCOVERY

The Cast of Characters in "The Roomer"

AN UNHAPPY WIFE, whose only treasure is a fur-trimmed coat she has bought secretly.

A SUSPICIOUS HUSBAND, whose small salary prompts his wife to take in MIKE, as a roomer.

The Roomer

By Dorothy West

She stood by the window. "I got something to say to you."

The pulse in his temple began to throb. His head slumped into his shoulders. "Are you gonna dog me about my pay cut? You ain't let up all year. Mike's four dollars makes up the difference. We're no better off and no worse."

"It ain't about your pay cut," she said contemptuously. "It's about that coat you promised me."

He looked like a trapped rabbit, and his rheumy eyes scoured the room for escape. "I ain't forgot my promise," he said desperately. "I'll see you get your coat. In two or three months."

"I ain't gonna freeze no two or three months." She drew a long breath. "I got the coat already."

For the first time he faced her, staring at her with an expression of tortured incomprehension.

"Quit kiddin'," he said through dry lips.

"Come see for yourself," she said coldly.

He lumbered to the window. They stood together and gaped through the grimy curtains. Neither had ever believed it possible that she could possess a fine fur-trimmed coat.

"How much it cost?" he asked bleakly.

"Sixty dollars," she answered proudly.

The pulse in his temple beat like a hammer. Little beads of sweat formed on his forehead. He could not control the quivering of his mouth. After awhile his words came slowly and even softly. "I bet Mike give you the money."

She looked at him with surprise and alarm. She had planned to tell him gradually, and now he had told her first. "That's what I was going to tell you," she said, and knew that it sounded weak.

He turned away abruptly and walked back to the table. For a moment he stared down unseeingly, then hurled the plates to the floor.

"I know how you and him eats," he said thickly. "I been seeing them fancy things in the ice box."

She was terrified. She crossed to him swiftly. For the first time in years she clung to him. "You got it all wrong," she said hoarsely. "Him and me never et together. Them things you seen in the ice box, it was me alone eatin' 'em. Mike's just my roomer. He ain't nothing to me. We ain't said two words to each other."

He shook her off as if she were a worrisome puppy, and he an old and tired dog.

"He give you the money," he said inexorably. "I've known about you and him all along. You turned me out of my bedroom. You give it to him. That back room ain't got no closet. The mattress ain't fit. You give him the best of everything."

"Don't be a fool," she cried desperately. "Was it my fault you got a cut? One of us had to do some talking to your boss. I rented our bedroom to Mike. So what if it was good money."

"Good money," he said bitterly. "Four dollars. A guy that can buy and sell us. You said he couldn't pay more than four dollars. You did fool me. You was getting plenty on the side."

"Oh, dollars," she sobbed, "but now you think. Mike don't know I'm wise."

"GIVE UP AND GO"

She was telling the truth, and he did not believe her. He snorted derisively. "Why you think I call what I come in? I don't want to catch him and you together. You been treating me like I was dirt even since he first set foot in this house. It's because he ain't dirt, and I ain't him."

She said with tired defiance, "It's because he's got get up and go, and you ain't."

The incoming local blew a derisive blast. The man jerked his head toward the sound. "Get up and go," he said softly. "Get up and go." He laughed in a crazy, exultant way. "You think I ain't sick of our marriage? You think I don't want to work for myself? Mike's plenty smart. And I ain't too dumb not to take his tip." He turned and strode out of the kitchen.

She ran after him and past him and began to climb the stairs.

Wait," she panted. "For God's sake wait. You don't have to believe me. Believe your own eyes."

She raced up the stairs into Mike's room and tore open the top bureau drawer. The front door slammed. She ran to the window, jerked it up, and shouted her husband's name. He did not turn around. His rapid stride increased. She ran back to the open drawer, and after a moment's frantic search, snatched out a banded packet.

The sound of her sobbing filled the small house as she stumbled down the stairs. She reached the front door, flung it open, and unsteadily crossed the porch. Her straining eyes searched the empty street. She uttered a desolate cry. The outgoing train blew a mocking good-by.

The packet of pencilled scraps, bearing her scrawled acknowledgment of the weekly receipt of six dollars, fluttered away from her hand. The high wind carried them skyward.

THE END.

You Can Be Beautiful

Exercise Away Inches

By ARLINE GOULD

OH, WONDERFUL world! Now we can herald the arrival of passive exercise . . . which is reducing measurements through muscle exercise without your lifting so much as your little finger!

No, you're not dreaming that you're reading this. It's here in black and white . . . the revolutionary secret of exercising away inches with as much effort to you as it takes to blink your eyelashes at someone nice across the cocktail lounge!

Truly, it's the most amazing thing to come along in this century. Simply explained . . . though the magnificent results are anything but simple when you are a hipline trimmed down, a thighline pared, heavy shoulder pads removed . . . it's the rhythmic contraction and relaxation of the muscles, without effort, diet, drugs, without heat or perspiration!

It's done with a pair of electrically controlled applicators, though actually no current passes through the body, and the applicators are controlled by the hands of an experienced operator.

As the controlled reducing treatment is concentrated on any part of you (. . . you get in an hour the effect of literally hours and days of swimming, rowing, riding, fencing or any other much-vaunted "reducing" exercise . . . and you're rested, refreshed, relaxed instead of. poohed and haggard from overexertion.

Treatments are surprisingly inexpensive.

Your circulation is stepped up, so you feel like a million, because when a muscle contracts, the blood is temporarily released from the tissue . . . upon relaxation, it returns. But it's the utilizing of stored-up reserves of fats and carbohydrates in the body through passive exercise that re-makes you by inches less into the figure you've dreamed might be yours . . .

If you'd like information on this marvelous measurement-reducing "passive exercise" treatments, to give you a Hollywood figure, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A LOVELY FIGURE . . . like Carole Landis' . . . may have been your gift from nature . . . but if you've let it become obscured by extra flesh . . . read what Arline Gould says today about passive exercise.

Hot Sauces Work Magic With Vegetables

By MARTHA LEE

Vegetables are on your menu at least once a day and that means 365 times a year (not counting Leap Year), so they're bound to be monotonous if you don't watch out. Foes of all monotony are the new hot sauces made with mayonnaise or salad dressing, cooked in five minutes. These sauces will work pure magic and the ordinary vegetables in your meals become special treats under their spell.

Such a treat is spinach when it is joined with creamy mayonnaise sauce. This sauce is delicate in its own way and its tanginess brings out the real deliciousness of this bright green vegetable. Use it also with asparagus and broccoli for enriched flavor.

MAYONNAISE EGG SAUCE

2-3 cup mayonnaise
1-3 cup milk
¼ tsp. salt
Dash of pepper
½ tsp. prepared yellow mustard
2 hard cooked eggs
1 lb. spinach, cooked and drained

Combine mayonnaise, milk, salt, pepper and mustard in the top part of a double poiber. Beat well together with a rotary beater until smooth. Heat over boiling water 5 minutes while stirring constantly. Chop the hard-cooked eggs, reserving one egg yolk. Add eggs to sauce, then pour over the spinach which has been cooked and drained Sprinkle with sieved egg yolk and serve. Makes 6 servings.

Here are other sauces to choose from, each with its own distinct flavor and all of them topping as toppings:

MUSTARD-HOLLANNAISE SAUCE

½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1-8 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. prepared mustard
¼ cup milk

Combine mayonnaise, salt, and mustard in top of double boiler. Gradually add milk, stirring after each addition until smooth. Cook over boiling water 5 minutes, stirring constantly; if overcooked, sauce will curdle. Serve at once with hot beets, cauliflower, broccoli artichokes, or spinach; broiled or baked fish, corned beef, tongue, or baked ham. Makes ⅝ cup sauce.

This Mustard-Hollannaise Sauce offers several variations—three of which follow:

CURRY HOLLANNAISE SAUCE

Omit mustard. Combine ½ teaspoon grated onion and salt with mayonnaise. Substitute water for milk. Cook as directed in recipe for Mustard-Hollannaise Sauce. Blend small amount of sauce with ¼ teaspoon curry powder. Add to remaining sauce and mix thoroughly. Serve at once over hot diced turnips, wax or green beans, onions, cabbage, carrots, or spinach.

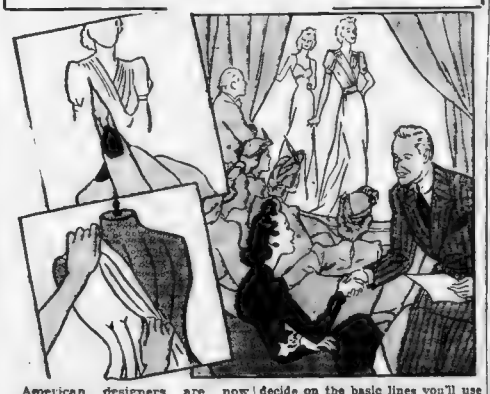
CHILI-HOLLANNAISE SAUCE

Omit mustard. Combine ½ teaspoon grated onion and saft with mayonnaise. Substitute water for milk. Cook as directed in recipe for Mustard-Hollannaise Sauce. Blend ½ teaspoon chili powder with small amount of sauce. Add to remaining sauce and mix thoroughly. Serve at once over hot green, wax or kidney beans, onions, cabbage or spinach.

TOMATO-HOLLANNAISE SAUCE

Omit mustard. Combine ⅛ teaspoon grated onion, 2 tablespoons catsup, salt, and dash of pepper with mayonnaise. Substitute water for milk. Cook as directed in recipe for Mustard-Hollannaise Sauce. Serve at once over hot green, wax or kidney beans, carrots, onions, cabbage or spinach.

Study Dress Design at Home



American designers are now stepping into their own. It's fame and fortune for the girl who displays unusual talent in this glamorous field.

And any girl with a knack for clothes can give her talents a trial by home study in dress designing, by creating clothes for herself and her friends.

Designing a dress, your first step may be to sketch your idea. You decide on the basic lines you'll use—perhaps a diagonal line for the blouse of the dress, as in our diagram. Such diagonal lines, you learn, give a dynamic feeling to a style. Or you may curve them for a softer, more graceful effect.

Then in your next stage you carry out your idea in muslin, cutting and pinning on a dummy. This gives you a chance to experiment in placing fullness, in locating trimming. When you have a perfectly fitting muslin pattern you trace it on paper, make a pattern from which the final lovely gown can be cut.

Dixon, Ex-American Ace Photog, Now Film Actor

Likeable, capable and unpredictable Jack Dixon, Boston Evening American photographer, had local newsmen reminiscing today with many of them already chanting "I knew him when."

For our Jack has up and signed a Paramount contract in rain-drenched Hollywood and it looks as if they have themselves another Wally Beery—a bit younger of course but just as talented good-natured and fun loving.

This time the best-seen footed lensman is to be on the receiving rather than the shooting end of the camera. Yes, a full fledged actor.

During some 10 years of shutter-clicking in Boston, Dixon has taken time off for enough game trotting to put a big one. He has pictured the mighty and the lowly on about every continent.

JACK DIXON
Photog in Films

HEADLINE PERFORMER

Announcement of his new role as an actor came with the information that he'll be a headline performer in Cecil B. DeMille's biggest technicolor film "Reap the Wild Wind."

Jack went out to Hollywood less than a month ago as publicity man for his pal, Stirling Hayden, the Gloucester yacht-mate, who almost overnight has become Hollywood's new glamour boy.

Now it looks as if Jack is in the market for a publicity man for himself.

When filmland got a peek at Jack, they sent him right over for a screen test at the end through with flying colors. He's six feet, three inches—almost as tall as Hayden—and when it comes to gab he's no Garbo. He can talk with the best of them, faster.

His traveling began some 11 years ago when he was sent down to the waterfront to get a few shots of one of Boston's biggest men, who was going abroad.

The vessel was one of the finest and Jack decided he'd like to take a trip. He'll only a little change in his pockets made no difference. He took pictures of celebrities during the passage, travelled abroad for several months and came home sporting a bankroll.

ITCHING FEET

Since then, he has settled down for brief intervals at taking pictures locally but soon got itching feet. All he needed to make his way was his camera and a typewriter. The city of Miami admits it never got such publicity as Dixon gave it some seven years ago.

Jack may grow a beard for his first picture. And this won't be any novelty. While palling around with Anton Lang some years ago he decided to keep the great Passion Play leader company, and he's been letting his whiskers grow on occasion ever since.

Britain 'Gratified' At Ship Seizures

..LONDON, March 31 (AP)—An authoritative source said today Britain was "gratified" over the United States' action in placing Italian, German and Danish ships in protective custody.

This source said such ships were highly desirable because of the present shortage of merchant shipping, and prospects of a greater shortage by the end of the war.

All Undressed for the Trip

Sightseeing in Havana

Ex-Bostonian Rules Super Sports Plant

By HERB FINNEGAN

DAY IN HAVANA (By Mail)—Up early, and an appointment with Jim Kendrigan to look over the University of Havana athletic plant . . . But first a trip to the heart of the city for a quick breakfast of Papaya juice (good for what ails you), toast, two eggs and coffee, all for 15 cents.

Eggs strictly fresh, and Cuban coffee palatable and stimulating . . . Served in glass, and so strong that four inches of cream are used to one inch of coffee . . . Salaries low here, and so is the cost of living . . . Next door to a sidewalk shop where high grade Cuban cigars may be purchased, two for a nickel . . . Cigars, Panama hats, Bacardi rum cheap here, but one may take only $100 worth of merchandise out of the country.

Visit to a perfume shop where some grades are sold five times as cheaply as in U. S.; others just as expensive . . . Ramble through grocery and fish markets . . . Fifteen eggs for 20 cents . . . Three bananas for one cent . . . Pompano and red snapper 15 cents a pound. It's 11:30, and a mad dash through city streets to reach University of Havana before noon, when siesta starts

All Work Ceases Between 12 and 2 O'Clock

Traffic problem at height between noon and 2 p. m., when everybody quits work for two hours, some taking a nap, others sitting in the sidewalk cafes drinking coffee at three cents a glass . . . Traffic toll in Cuba higher than anywhere else in the world, but death rate otherwise low . . . Every car on street seems at least 10 years old, and drivers pass on right or left as they please . . . Few traffic lights, because Cubans haven't the patience to wait for them to change . . . First driver to blow horn is supposed to get right of way, but who can prove who blew horn first?

Out the beautiful El Prado and Malecon (Sea Wall) to University of Havana, where Kendrigan is the commander-in-chief . . . Cubans look upon ex-Bostonian as king because he was born on Sept. 8, one of their biggest saint's days . . . University of Havana athletic plant one of world's marvels . . . Athletic office all tile and marble . . . Showers and lockers which would put northern colleges to shame . . . Looking over baseball field where Kendrigan wants Sox to train . . . Right field shrubbery only 318 feet away, and cost of lost balls would be tremendous . . . Long enough for Cubans, however, because they play with "Wilson" ball, much less lively than the Spalding, used in major leagues.

Glimpse at famous U. of Havana medical school which has 28 separate buildings . . . Cubans watch their health closely, clinics all over Havana, where one pays $1.50 a week and gets expert attention the year round . . . One reason death rate so low. Another is the climate . . . Cubans, as a rule, shun alcoholics.

Back to Hotel Nacional for lunch, and approaching it from the Malacon one is forced to admire its beauty if not its tariff . . . Immense structure on hilltop overlooking the bay. All brick, like every other building in Havana. Shun wooden homes here. Brick keeps out the heat, and also discourages termites . . . Patios, and porticos, with well-kept gardens . . . Swimming pool for the guests . . . Tile floors all over the hotel, even in the rooms . . . One hour for lunch. Cubans eat leisurely. No grabbing sandwich and being on way . . . Bellhops in white uniforms with blue epaulets. Love to wear uniforms here, probably all dreaming of succeeding Batista one day . . . Long corridors in hotel, reminiscent of hospital . . . Rooms spacious, and that occupied by Joe Cashman rents for $16.50 a day, without meals . . . Courtyard in rear where guests sit late in evening and sip their cooling draughts

To ball game, and marveling at playgrounds along the way . . . Swimming pools, with lights for night use, myriad baseball diamonds, volleyball and basketball courts . . . Playgrounds for children; playgrounds for older boys and girls . . . Tropical Stadium, where Cincinnati Reds are immensely popular because Cuban Adolph Luque once pitched for them . . . Fans rooting lustily for Reds to win, but loud in their appreciation of Dom DiMaggio's marvelous outfielding . . . Wild betting during the game . . . Makes the boys in the right field bleachers at Fenway look like 5 and 10 cent sports . . . Gambling fever tremendous . . . Lotteries every day in week. Tickets on sale everywhere . . . People apparently happy after depression days . . . Price of sugar going up, and they see better days ahead.

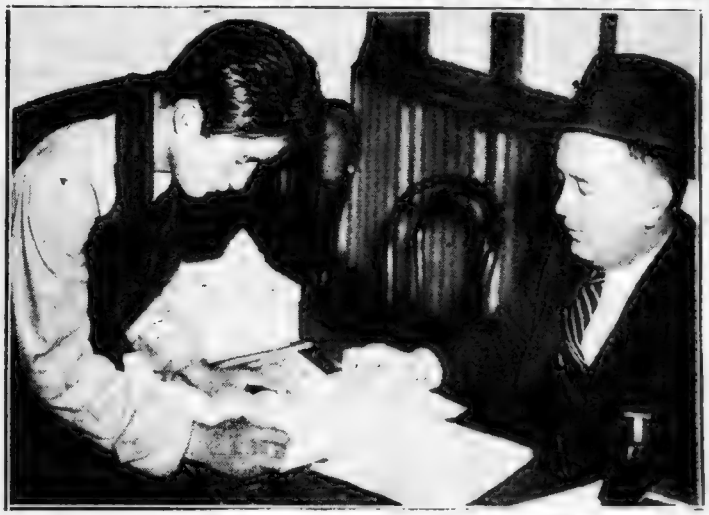
Ferry Boat Song Popular Piece

Home to dinner, and placed under a marquee on an ell near the swimming pool listening to the music of two bands, one American, one Spanish . . . Watching the rhumba intently only to have a cloudburst overflow the swimming pool and the water come rushing in on the dance floor . . . "I Like to Ride a Ferry" Cuba's most popular tune. Hear it everywhere.

A trip to "Sloppy Joe's" bar, and if it was in the heart of Boston you wouldn't go near the place . . . No tables. Customers not at bar sit on stools, and place another stool in center to hold drinks . . . Delicatessen lunch on one side of room . . . Hangers-on mooching tips from tourists . . . Antonio making smoke come out his ears . . . Have your picture taken with the manager, only 50 cents . . . Cuban sombreros for sale, 50 cents . . . Let me out to get a breath of fresh air . . . On to see the other night spots (deleted by censor).

'BATTLE OF CHAMPIONS' UNDER WAY AT GARDEN



HE'S FIRST—Frank Yezzie, 112 pounder from the Indian Reservation in New Mexico, signs with Gene Driscoll of the A. A. U. before weighing in at the Garden this noon. Yezzie is one of the Rocky Mountain district fighters here for the great three-day nationals which opened this afternoon.

By RINGSIDE

The "Battle of Champions" opened in the Garden this afternoon as 150 of the class of the amateur boxers of the United States heard the call to go into action

There were 24 states and the District of Columbia represented in what is the gratest amateur boxing show ever offered in Boston

There is intense interest on the part of the public heard Rodey O'Dooley, sensational Colorado heavyweight, and the other boxers who will toss blistering punches in the title tournament.

Eight New England champions will represent this section of the country, and they may be relied upon to give an excellent account of themselves against the invaders.

BOUTS IN AFTERNOON

The show got under way at 3 p. m. There will be an intermission from 6 p. m. until 7:30 p. m. when the fireworks will be resumed

Two rings and two-minute rounds will tend to speed up the show.

Tomorrow night the semi-finals will be held, while on Wednesday evening there will be semi-finals and finals.

From this terrific ring action will come eight boys who will be proclaimed national A. A. U. champions. They will be the kingpins in their boxing classes.

During the past three days amateur boxers have been arriving in this city from all sections of the United States. The youngsters have been well trained for the championship tests and are expected to furnish an abundance of thrills.

The eight New England contenders are Tony Peppi, Boston flyweight; Tony DeGregorio, Boston bantamweight; Francis Leonard, Taunton featherweight; Steve

'Best Rookie Ever' in Cub Camp

LOS ANGELES, March 31 (AP—Jimmy Wilson has seen a lot of ball players come and go in 20 years, but he's already on record as describing his own Lou Stringer as "the best rookie I ever saw in spring training."

The new manager of the Chicago Cubs isn't given to an abundant use of superlatives, but the complimentary words fairly gush when Wilson begins talking about the 23-year-old yearling infielder.

Wilson says Stringer is destined to become one of the big league's finest infielders, but even so he is having a hard time breaking into the Cub infield. He played second a while, but Billy Herman naturally is a fixture there. Stringer also looked great at third, but Stan Hack has that job nailed down.

So Wilson sent Stringer to shortstop. He's been there for 10 days and there is a very real possibility that he may oust Billy Myers, acquired from Cincinnati to ping that spot, from a starting berth.

Stringer is a great fielder and light hitter in the minors, batting a meager .263 with Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League last season.

But he's dusting the ball like a slugger now. Since moving in at shortstop, Stringer has collected 22 hits in 39 trips to the plate over an 11-game stretch. His performance includes a total of 36 bases, represented by three home runs, five doubles and 14 singles. He drove in six runs in one game.

Bees Take to Sleeper After Longhorn Tilt

By BILL GRIMES

AUSTIN, Tex., March 31—Manager Johnny Cooney and the Bees Jayvees came up from San Antonio this morning to meet the University of Texas Longhorns this afternoon at Clark Field.

In U. of T. the Jayvees are meeting one of the best college nines in the country. The Longhorns have won no less than 21 Southwest Conference titles and are favored to repeat this season.

Pete Layden, who starred on the gridiron, is captain of the Longhorns team. He is the centerfielder and rated as tops among the Texan collegians. He will join the Red Sox after he graduates in June.

Manager Cooney has a stronger Jayvee club than that which Richie Hulswitt and Jack Onslow took to New Braunfels ten days ago to play the Minneapolis Millers. He has the same infield, Buddy Hassett, Buddy Gremp, Heine Majeski and Billy Wietelmann, but he has Max West and Earl Averill to bolster his outfield. Mel Preibisch, who was an outstanding football and baseball star for the Longhorns a few years ago, will be in right field.

JAVERY TO TAKE MOUND

Nick Strincevich will be the starting pitcher for the Jayvees. He hasn't been any too well this spring and therefore hasn't had much work. If he's right, Nick will give the collegians plenty of trouble.

Alva Javery will get the nod after Strincevich has gone five innings and in the event that either gets into difficulty, Manager Cooney has Joe Sullivan and Frank Labanna to fall back on.

Coach Bib Falk of the Longhorns will send a brother battery against the Jayvees, Mel and Wilson Duetsch. Mel, who is the pitcher, will sign a St. Louis Browns' contract when he receives his sheepskin in June. He's a six foot two, 190 pound right hander and has been a very consistant winner in Southwest Conference competition.

It will be a feather in the caps of the Longhorns and also their coach, if the Jayvees go down to defeat this afternoon. Bib Falk replaced Uncle Billy Disch, who coached at U. of T. for 30 years this spring. Naturally, Bib, who is a former major leaguer and who coached at Cleveland and for the Red Sox under Bucky Harris and then scouted for the Yawkeymen for about five years, would like to take a fall out of the Bees.

The Boston squad came up here from San Antonio in a special sleeper. The remainder of the Bees will leave the Mission City tomorrow for Houston. On the way through here the Sunrise Limited will pick up the Jayvees sleeper at 1:30 Wednesday morning.

PRAISE SAN ANTONIO

Although they didn't get many breaks from the weatherman, the Bees are satisfied that San Antonio is one of the finest sites in the country for training a ball club. The players are all in fine condition, better probably than they ever were coming out of Florida.

They will be on their way toward home tomorrow night, making their first stop at Houston, which is now the largest city in the Lone Star State. From Houston the Bees will move up to Texarkana, which is an 11-hour sleeper jump, and they'll be on train the two following nights going to Fort Smith and Enid, Okla., from where they will go to Oklahoma City and the next morning they'll move into Tulsa for a Sunday game with the Oilers.

Then it will be back to the sleepers for a couple of more nights while going to Wichita and Topeko, Kan., and into Kansas City, where Casey Stengel was born and raised.

After playing the K. C.'s, the Bees will travel for 13 hours to reach Evansville, Ind., where a game is scheduled with Bob Coleman's Three Eye League club for April 10. The three Boston sleepers will be dropped at Evansville, along with a private dining car, and immediately after the game the players will be off for home, arriving at the Huntington ave. station at 8:40 Friday night.

SEEK TITLE—Director Nate Hurwitz of the Boys' Club of Charlestown has a formidable entry in the basketball tournament that starts Friday night at the Charlestown courts. Teams from all over New England are competing. The Boston entry is as follows, from row: Sullivan, Brennan, Mullen, Scannell. Back row: Lange, Mahoney, Nate Hurwitz, Stafford and Ambrose.

Bees' Pitchers Good to Browns

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 31 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns wound up their exhibition schedule here by drubbing the Boston Bees, 18 to 2, with 24 hits being good for a total of 44 bases.

The Brownies scored in all but the third inning off Bill Posedel, Jim Tobin and Al Piechota, three of Casey Stengel's pitching mainstays, and rapped out 11 hits for extra bases. Among them were home runs by Harlond Clift, Johnny Berardino and George McQuinn.

Vern Kennedy and Bill Trotter held the Bees to seven hits.

The Browns' B team won a 7 to 2 victory over Minneapolis of the American Association in a game played at New Braunfels. Bob Muncrief and Maurice Newlin did the pitching.

Hogan Rallies To Beat Little

ASHEVILLE, N. C., March 31 (AP)—Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., played magnificent golf under tremendous pressure to shoot a two under par 69 on his last round and win the $500C "Land of the Sky" open golf tournament for the second straight year with a 72-hole score of 284, two better than Lawson Little.

Hogan, leader at 18 and 36 holes, was beaten nine strokes by Little's third-round 66, but little Ben, who added $1200 to the winnings that had already put him at the head of the 1941 c. h return list, went for everything on his final round while Little, missing short putts right and left, soared ten shots to a 76 for 286.

Feller Turns On Steam, Fans Ten Crackers

ATLANTA, March 31 (AP)—Bob Feller turned on the steam for seven innings to demonstrate midseason form as the Indians made it two in a row over the Atlanta Crackers, 7 to 2.

Rapid Robert held the Southern Ass'n batters to four hits and struck out 10, as he became the first Indian hurler to go seven innings.

Jeff Heath started the Tribe's scoring in the second inning with a homer, as the Indians hammered two Atlanta pitchers for 13 hits.

The Crackers' two runs came in the ninth after Bill Zuber had issued passes to fill the bases, whereupon Third Baseman Charlie Glock lined a single to drive in two runners.

BEES TO FARM POLO ANDREWS TO HARTFORD

By BILL GRIMES

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 31—The Bees wind up their stay here tomorrow night . . . Despite the fact that the weather hasn't been consistently good, the Bees are in far better shape than they would have been if they'd trained in Florida under similar conditions.

• • •

So they'll return here next spring . . . By which time Pitman-Sullivan Park should be one of the best playing fields any major league club ever trained on . . . Wes Ferrell is building a new home at Sarasota, Fla.

• • •

Mrs. Casey Stengel is flying back to Los Angeles with a carload of merchandise purchased in Mexico City . . . Although they'll go up to Austin with the B squad tomorrow, the scribes will return here after the U. of T. game and take off with the main squad for Houston, which will be the first stop on the way home.

Pres. and Mrs. Bob Quinn left for Boston this morning . . . They're both in better physical condition than when he came to Texas . . . Mel Preibisch, who is known as "Red" in Texas collegiate circles, is one of the most popular Bees . . . And, he has shown so much promise with the willow that he has a chance of staying with the Bees.

Claude Wilborn will be sent to Hartford to work for Manager Jack Onslow . . . Wilborn didn't make the grade because of his lack of speed . . . He's a very good hitter, and a pretty fair fielder but he's too slow foot . . . Right now, it looks like Stan "Polo" Andrews, the Lynn boy, would be sent out . . . He may go to some double A club, if not, t will be Hartford.

And, there's considerable likelihood that the Bees will hire a batting practice catcher this season . . . Such a move would give them one more active player, for the spare hand would not be added to the roster . . . Nick Strincevich, thanks to Dr. William E. Wrang, Middletown, Conn., is back on the firing line.

Gene Moore cut loose with a couple of his best Sunday throws last Tuesday at Austin . . . Until then he hadn't attempted to throw out any runners . . . Later, we discovered that while the Bees were down in the Rio Grande valley, Gene pitched batting practise four times for the stay-at-homes . . . The Bees have been "reading" Bob Swift, the Browns' catcher . . . He's as easy to "read" as an open book.

It begins to look as though Walter Judnich who is the "ace" of the Browns has seriously injured his shoulder.

Ralph Younker, apparently, has recovered from his kidney stone ailment . . . He is putting on some weight and getting stronger every day . . . Sibby Sisti is the boy to watch this year . . . The young third baseman is headed for a big year . . . At the rate he has been improving, Sisti will be one of baseball's great in a few years . . . Bama Rowell hasn't started to click as yet . . . He hasn't been hitting consistantly and his fielding is very much off color . . . He will come back, for he has plenty of "stomach."

Novikoff Homer, Root's Pitching Put Cubs Across

LOS ANGELES, March 31 (AP)—Charles Root, 42-year-old pitcher, and Lou Novikoff, slugging rookie, played major roles in the Chicago Cubs' 3 to 2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Novikoff slammed a first inning homer with Stan Hack on base to give the Cubs a lead they never relinquished, but pulled a leg muscle and retired from the game. Root allowed the Bucs only three hits in six innings and increased the Cub margin with a second inning home run.

Rookie Paul Erickson finished the mound job and yielded only two hits in the last four frames.

Sea Gulls Tie Eagles for Title

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 31 (AP)—The Atlantic City Sea Gulls defeated the New York Rovers, 6-4, and tied the Washington Eagles for the championship of the Amateur Hockey Ass'n of the United States.

Thomas Lockhart, president of the AHA and Eastern Amateur Ice Hockey League, said the Eagles, who have threatened to disband, would be ordered to engage in a playoff with the Gulls. Otherwise the Gulls will be named AHA champions and the Ontario Hockey Ass'n titleholders will be invited to meet the Gulls in a series for the world amateur championship, Lockhart said.

Riggs' Batting Gives Dodgers 5-2 Edge

ST. PETERSBNRG, Fla., March 31 (AP)—Lew Riggs hit his third home run in three days, and added a double and a single, to lead the Brooklyn Dodgers' second stringers to a 5 to 2 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

It was a double loss for the American League champions because Ned Harris, promising rookie outfielder, suffered a broken nose when hit by a batted ball in practise before the game. He will be out of action at least a week.

Collegiates Roll Today

By WALTER KILEY

Now that opening day has been successfully negotiated, conspicuous bowling feats may be daily expected from here in as the first full week of competition in the American-Record grand candlepin championships hit into high at the Huntington Club today.

Scores ran low for the most part on Saturday so that the opportunities for lifting the several open and amateur titles remain wide open as the heavy part of the annual alley program commences.

The old business of tightening up and of becoming tournament-conscious struck down most of the opening day performers. In a majority of cases, both the men and women keglers performed many pins under their seasonal averages.

There's a long program listed for the Huntington Club today with a number of college boys trying their fortunes during the afternoon session. The men and women take over this evening and the pins will be toppling well into midnight with countless new 1941 highs almost a certainty.

SUGARMEN ROLL

The evening program brings to the wars several top-flight men's teams numbering among them such outstanding quintets as the Revere Sugar Refinery of Charlestown and the Atwood and Morrill Co. of Beverly.

As has been previously announced, the tournament committee and Manager Jack Stafford of the Huntington Club have acceded to many requests and have kept the entries open a few more days. So that for the time being those New England fans who would like to participate but who have for any good reason neglected to file their blanks may still be part and parcel of the big event by contacting Manager Stafford at the Huntington Club either by mail, telephone or in person.

The week-end saw the arrival of scores of new entries, most of them incorporating teams, the members of which plan to take part in the singles and doubles as well.

BRUINS IN LAST STAND AGAINST MAPLE LEAFS

TORONTO, March 31—Facing Stanley Cup elimination and a disappointing windup to a brilliant season, Boston's desperate Bruins meet the Maple Leafs tomorrow night still determined to pull out of this Toronto series against overwhelming odds.

Tomorrow night the story will be told.

A Maple Leafs victory puts Connie Smythe' gang into the cup finals and debands the Bruins for the 1940-41 season. A Bruins triumph gives the Rossmen a respite and pushes them up even with Toronto at three-all, with the final game carded for Boston Thursday night.

But the consensus is that there will be no seventh game.

The Leafs are now at full strength—Bingo Kampman and Hank Goldup are available—have a decided edge on the Rossmen.

It must be remembered that the Bruins, despite the fact that they lost just one game in their last 32 starts, did not take the N. H. L. title from Toronto until the last week of the season. They might never have done it if the Leafs hadn't lost Syl Apps, their captain and sparkplug, for the last six games of the campaign.

INJURIES WRECKED TORONTO

Toronto, until wrecked by injuries near mid-season, was making a runaway of the league race. This was Connie Smythe's dream team that had been three years in the making and 1940-41 was to be the big year.

At this writing, they are the team they were earlier in the year. Yet, this vaunted Leafs squad probably would have been eliminated if the Bruins had retained their full strength.

No team can lose two key men like Bill Cowley and Bobby Bauer without coming close to collapse. Cowley is one of the greatest play makers in hockey history and this winter has been the greatest in his career. Cowley's loss not only wrecked his line but also affected the Cain-Jackson-Reardon trio for Jackson had to be moved up into Cowley's spot.

That weakened two lines and Bobby Bauer's slashed instep has just about finished the Kraut line. Little Robert, the smart little right winger who has sparked his line for three years, has been pathetic in these last two games.

BAUER SLOWED UP

He is out there on raw courage alone. He doesn't dare go down too deep because he can't break fast enough to backcheck and cover his lane. For that reason he has had to lag on every attack. Saturday, for example, he was never in position to make a single shot which is unusual for Bauer, whose aggressive and alertness generally results in his being in position for rebounds and key passes.

So, with all three lines affected since the first game, it is little short of remarkable that the Bruins have stood up as well as they have in the past four games.

After dropping the second and being trampled on in the third, the Bruins made a brilliant comeback on raw intestinal fortitude alone to grab the fourth game and deadlock the series.

Then Saturday night here in Boston, they amazingly enough held their own until a rather cheap overtime goal by Pete Langelle spelled defeat.

There is no intention of detracting from Langelle's goal for "cheap" scores are very common in playoff games. In fact, Herbie Cain's marker that won Thursday's affair was no perfect set up tally by any means.

It is the flukey shot that dribbles over the red line or the long screened shot that bounces off a skate into the strings which often means a difference between elimination and a Stanley Cup championship.

BRUINS HOPE FOR BREAK

And around this element of luck, the Bruins are basing their hopes as they near Toronto.

Feeling that they have been anything but lucky to date, the Rossmen feel that the law of averages may take care of them tomorrow night in the way of a couple of goals which may be enough to deadlock the series.

If the Bruins could snare this decision, they would have an even chance on their home ice of grabbing that decisive seventh game.

Trying to predict the outcome of a game between the Bruins and Leafs at this stage is rather futile. Toronto definitely has the edge but a break or a few untimely penalties can be great equalizers.

All things being even, Toronto is a favorite to end the season tomorrow night.

The Bruins are hoping that all things won't be even.

21 DISTRICTS REPRESENTED

Great things are expected of the New England standard bearers and many predict that more than one national championship will be won by this fast-stepping group.

Twenty-four of the 41 district A. A. U. associations will be represented as the Ohio A. A. A. U. were last-minute entries with the following champions—Frank Gerrard, Toledo in the 112; Charles Gwynn, Wilberforce in the 126; Charles Justice, Wilberforce and Edward McDaniels, Cincinnati in the 135; John Ousky, Toledo in the 147; James Lyons, Springfield, O. in the 160; Shelton Bell, Wilberforce in the light heavyweight class and James Kronen, heavyweight from Cincinnati.

There are so many champions in each of the eight classes that it would be difficult to single out any outstanding performer. However, all New England fight fandom is anxious to see how the New England champs will stack up against boys like Harold Dade, Chicago Golden Gloves king; Joey Aguilar, Kansas City Golden Glover; Paul Carbetta, Cleveland champion; Gilbert Arce, Stockton, Cal., and Frank Yazza Albuquerque, N. M., in the 112 pounds — Ray Brown, Chicago Golden Glover; Bat Cullison, Kansas City; Danny Snipe, Chemawa, Oregon.

Jurges Brilliant On Return to Giants

MIAMI, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Shortston Billy Jurges returned to the New York Giants' lineup for the first time since he collapsed from dizzy spell at Havana March 2 and looked like his old self as the Terrymen trimmed the Washington Senators, 7 to 4.

He played five innings and handled seven fielding chances with consummate skill before turning the job over to Mickey Witek, who slammed a triple with the bases loaded in the eighth for the margin of victory.

White Star Stable Drops Eight Head at Gansett

PAWTUCKET, R. I., March 31—Eli Long, a newcomer to New England racing, stole a march on the rest of the early bird horsemen when he unloaded the White Star Farm racing stable of eight head of horses at Narragansett Park early this morning.

Making his first visit to the East, Mr. Long, who trains his own horses, owns the 323-acre breeding farm at Delaware, Ohio, on which he raises racing thoroughbreds and blue ribbon show horses. Several of the horses which he brought here for the invasion of New England were sired by General Lee or Vamoose, two stallions which stand at White Star Farm.

Heading the string which unloaded at Gansett this morning is Mint Sand, a four-year-old son of Mint Briar. This fellow has proved a mighty valuable member of the stable winning a total of nine races last year being one of four horses to accomplish this feat on the American turf. Others included in the shipment are Sir Minton, Quizzlebe, Imalady, Darby Dot, Sun Ray, Flying Blaze and Tangle Lee.

ELI NEW AT GAME

Trainer Eli Long has been in thoroughbred racing only three years but a brother, the late Roas Long, was for several years trainer for the Dixiana Stables. Another brother, Allan Long, campaigns a stable of his own through the Middle West.

The string with which White Star Farms hopes to win plenty of races in the East this season, was shipped here direct from the home training stables at Delaware, Ohio, where their legging-up work has been accomplished on the big indoor track at White Star Farm.

Two weeks of fast work on the Gansett strip will bring them up to opening day, fit and ready for a strenuous campaign.

Hard on the heels of the White Star Farm shipment came a carload over the rails from Hot Springs, Ark. There were 14 horses aboard, 10 the property of Mrs. Nat Palumbo, of Wakefield, Mass., and four belonging to R. C. Groff, of Detroit.

Among the Palumbo horses, which traveled in charge of Trainer Johnny McDowell, were the speedy stake filly Dawn Portage, several times a winner on the Gansett strip last year; Sweet Sukey, Personable, Lady Ariel, Hurry Ann, Bully Time, Papa Jack, Maetran, Sting Gal and Sting-Me-Not.

Four 2-year-olds belonging to Mrs. Palumbo, which have wintered at the Bola Farm, on the Newburyport Turnpike, will be shipped in next Wednesday.

The Groff horses were led in by that steady campaigner, Forever Prince, the 6-year-old son of Prince o. Bourbon, which once again will prove a stout contender in the Spring Stakes. Lovely Player, Miss Harriett and Skating Mad completed the shipment.

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

BEFORE THE next A. A. U. amateur boxing championships are held I hope the controlling officials correct a situation which is certain to prove of hardship to many of the 150 boxers who will compete at the Garden this week. Under the rules of the present tournament, which will not end until around midnight on Wednesday, the boxers must keep at the required weight.

The tournament gets under way at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and the weighing in ceremonies are set for 10 a. m. A boxer who battles for a national title must keep at the required poundage from now until the final weighing in, which will be at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon.

There is a great physical strain on any boy who is competing in a three-night tournament without it being necessary for him to also worry about his weight. In many cases some of these youngsters will have to restrict their diets and even go to Turkish baths in order to keep their weight down.

In professional boxing, champions consider they are under a great strain when compelled to make a specified weight for a particular bout.

When Johnny Dundee, former world's featherweight champion, would make weight he would always have a second on hand at the weighing in ceremonies who would hand him a container filled with beef broth as soon as he got off the scales.

The broth was specially prepared for Dundee by Mrs. Dinty Moore. Later Dundee would go to Dinty's famous restaurant on West 46th st., New York, for a hearty meal.

"When a champion eats at my place I always have Mrs. Moore prepare his dinner," Dinty once told me. "There is then not any chance of anyone dropping a Mickey Finn into the boxer's soup."

In case you do not know what a Mickey Finn is, it is used to make noisy frequenters of night clubs and hotel cafes silent. It has also been employed to make boxers sick before they are called upon to enter a ring in an important bout.

When Jack Sharkey was preparing for many of his important New York bouts he frequently ate in Moore's. Jack knew that Dinty would supervise the preparation of his meals.

Making Weight Saps Boxer's Vitality

A BOXER REQUIRED to make weight often saps his vitality. He cannot be expected to show as well in the ring as he would if he could eat what he wishes.

Growing youngsters are often entered in a class which they are outgrowing. They deprive themselves of the proper food to keep their weight down and by so doing often injure their health.

Gene Driscoll, chairman of the New England A. A. U. boxing committee, believes that one of the best ways to eliminate the present evil would be to have sectional championships. Only the champions would come to Boston, and the tournament would last only two nights. This would not place such a heavy strain on those boxers who are obliged to make weight.

How Pat McCarthy Took Off Eight Pounds

WHEN PAT McCARTHY of Roxbury, now associated with the Metropolitan police department, boxed Johnny Wilson, former world's middleweight champion, in Mechanics Building, he agreed to make 163 pounds. McCarthy was only two pounds above the required notch two days before the bout.

Jim MacDonald, McCarthy's manager, felt that the drying out process would take care of the two extra pounds. Pat, however, drank considerable fruit juices, with the result he was at 173 pounds when he weighed in.

Wilson was matched to box Harry Greb in a return bout for the world's middleweight title and refused to go through with the McCarthy bout unless Pat made an attempt to get off the excess weight.

Jim MacDonald and George Freeman took McCarthy to a home in South Boston. Pat was placed in a tub of near-boiling water. Heavy blankets were placed over the top of the tub so as to keep the steam from escaping. McCarthy was kept in the tub for half an hour, then placed in a bed and bundled in heavy blankets. When rushed to Mechanics Building an hour before it was time for the bout to start McCarthy weighed only 165 pounds, and the bout went on.

McCarthy scored a terrific right-hand punch to the jaw in the first round, but Wilson came back fighting and later cut Pat so badly around one of his eyes that the contest was stopped by the referee.

Basil Jones Liked His Pork Chops

BASIL JONES of New York, a 112-pounder, was a member of the All-America team this writer took to California a year ago last January. When Basil weighed in he was at 115 pounds.

"How did you get so heavy?" I asked Basil.

"I couldn't resist those pork chops on the train out," replied the little New Yorker. "I also took an egg with sherry each morning. I figured it would help to build me up. I guess it did."

Basil couldn't get the extra weight off in the required time and wasn't permitted to box.

Heavyweights don't have to worry about making weight, and as a result the big fellows in the A. A. U. title bouts this week will be able to knock over big, juicy steaks while the youngsters in the lighter classes will be watching their diets.

Eagles Football Squad Reports in Full Armor

JOHN CURLEY DENNY MYERS

B. C. Sports Head Wishes Coach Luck

Dennis Edward Myers, new Eagles' coach, greeted more than 50 candidates for the grid squad this afternoon at the first spring practice session of the season. The spring drills will be held on the freshman field at the Heights.

Equipment was issued to 51 men last Friday. Three of this number —Ralph Nash, Justin McGowan and Bob Jauron—were excused from spring practice.

Nash, "the hard luck kid" from Somerville, and McGowan, junior giant from Laconia, N. H., only recently recovered from serious illnesses. Jauron has been granted permission to work with Coach Fred Maguire's baseball squad. Bob, however, will be expected to keep in touch with the grid organization.

The absence of Nash and McGowan will put a decided crimp in Coach Myers' quarterback ranks. Both boys were leading candidates for the vacant post which Henry Toczylowski left at the final whistle in the Sugar Bowl.

Nash has been through a pair of sickness sieges since he returned from New Orleans early in January. First, Ralph was confined to St. Elizabeth's Hospital with the grippe and convulsions.

He hadn't been back in school after recovering from that illness before he was once again in a hospital bed—this time with appendicitis. Ralph will see no service in the spring drills.

McGOWAN LAID LOW

McGowan, strong arm and powerfully built, was recently confined to St. Elizabeth's for more than three weeks with a bad case of grippe and pleurisy. Justin lost 20 pounds during his illness. He, also, will be fortunate to be completely recovered and ready for the rigors of college football by next September.

Chris Brady, 200-pound quarterback on the freshman eleven last fall, isn't in perfect shape, either. Brady, a Peabody boy, slipped and fell on a wax floor recently and his left leg is none too strong. He'll have to take things easy for the next couple of weeks.

"I'll wait until I see the boys in action before I consider changing any of them," said Denny when questioned last week. Coach Myers—by his own admission—is a "changing" coach. It won't surprise a lot of interested people if some of the Eagles are parked in new positions next fall.

SQUAD FULLY EQUIPPED

There was a distinct possibility that Myers would introduce his squad to its first contact work of the season—on the very first day of spring practice. When equipment was handed out Friday, hip and shoulder pads were included. The Eagles were ordered to report today in full battle armor.

Coach Myers was reported assisted this afternoon by his recently appointed assistant coaches. Carl Brumbaugh, former Chicago Bears player-captain and coach, was to handle the backs; Harry Marr, youthful alumnus of Notre Dame, was to work with the ends; Amerino "Moody" Sarno. Everett graduate of Fordham and an All-America tackle in 1935, was to assist with the line coaching, and Tommy Powers, B. C. alumnus who'll handle the freshman squad next fall, was to assist in a general capacity.

Those issued equipment who were on hand this afternoon include:

SOPHOMORES — Walter Boudreau, Rocco Canale, Harry Connolly, Donald Currivan, Alfred Florentino, Michale Holovak, Carl Lucas, John Joyce, Tom Moran, Fred Naumetz, Joseph Repko, Charles Toole, Robert Dempsey.

Crespi Big Noise In Cards Victory

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 31 (AP)—Frank Crespi's double with the bases full in the fifth inning drove in two runs and started the St. Louis Cardinals on the way to a 9 to 3 victory over the Phillies.

The two-bagger off Ike Pearson, shattered a 1-1 tie. Crespi later scored what proved to be the winning run on Terry Moore's fly.

NATS PREXY RAPS NATIONAL LEAGUE FOR POOR TREATMENT OF ALEXANDER

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, March 31 (INS)—What interests you today?

Baseball?—The sorry plight of Grover Cleveland Alexander, broke and abed in a Bronx veterans' hospital, could be remedied in a minute if the National League had an iota of conscience, Clark Griffith, doughty old co-founder of the American League, told us the other day.

"Alex was as great an asset to the National League as stars like Walter Johnson, Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker were to our league," the owner of the Washington Senators declared. "And do you think we'd ever stand by and see any of our ex-stars in need? The National League makes all of organized baseball look bad, when it neglects men like Alexander. It could easily take care of him out of its league funds, without even referring his case to the Association of Professional Baseball Players . . . You know, the group that is supported by those all-star games. I guess the National League's just too busy thinking up more fool ideas like synthetic double headers and night baseball," the old warrior concluded, stomping off to his pinochle game.

Golf?—During the recent Red Cross match in Nassua, big bluff Walter Hagen was about to chip on the green, from about 20 yards away, when he noticed that his royal highness was standing too far away from the pin to grab it in time, in case the ball started to go into the cup. Hagen looked up with that great squashed Babe Ruthish face and cheerfully said, "get the pin, Eddie!"

The other members of the great foursome, Bobby Jones, Gene Sarazen and Tommy Armour, addressed the Duke of Windsor as "sir" during the two-day match. Hagen alternated "Eddie" with "Prince," and the Duke, who seems to be a real nice guy, took to Hagen more than to the others. Windsor is a real, red-hot golf fan.

The day the incomparable foursome arrived to play in the 36-hole four-ball match the Duke sat down with them and rattled off the names and dates and the courses where Hagen, Jones, Sarazen and Armour won their British opens and amateurs.

As Prince of Wales he had made the presentations of the cups upon all these occasions. At Nassau he held the pin and picked up the golf balls and did other little homely chores for all of them, during the Red Cross match, but Hagen was plainly his favorite.

We asked one of his equerries what Windsor thought about being called Eddie, and the man told us a story. He said that when it became known that the Duke would visit a certain Miami department store, during the Windsors' trip to this country, the sales girls began referring to him as Eddie in their gossip about the impending arrival.

Finally the Duke showed up, bent on the grim mission of buying a teapot, and the girl who waited on him automatically said, "Thanks, Eddie," when he handed her the money for the pot. Then she clapped her hand over her mouth and started to apologize. But the Duke stopped her with an arched-back eyebrow. "Why be sorry?" he said, "that's my name, isn't it?"

Boxing?—You may possibly think that Natie Brown contributed little to the boxing art in his 260-odd fights (and 83 appearances as a heavyweight mat burper) but you'll admit immediately after you read this that the man is a genuine patron of the terpsichorean art.

Some time ago the great Paul Draper, who must combine the best that was in Nijinski and Jack Donahue, arrived in Washington for an important appearance at the National Theater.

The incomparable dancer had sprained his left ankle and the fact that he hadn't been able to use it had caused the muscles of his amazing legs to stiffen. Draper couldn't find a rubber he could trust and in semi-desperation he remembered that Washington was the home of Brown, who had fought 'em all.

Draper is a first rate sports fan, as well as a thorough soul, so he got Brown on the phone, managed to explain who he was to the instantly suspicious fighter, and Natie finally sent over an old pug who is Washington's best rubber. Straightened Draper out just like that (snap!), Paul told us the other night in his dressing room, casting an appreciative beam at the burly cigar-smoking Brown. And the show went on.

YAWKEY SEEN FACING ONLY BIG HEADACHE

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

MIAMI, Fla., March 31 (INS)—Where does Mr. Tom Yawkey go from here with his $50,000,000? Is this perennial question to be answered by his Boston Red Sox winning a pennant in the near future, or will the club continue indefinitely staggering up and down without ever quite getting anywhere?

The jovial multimillionaire club-owner has been engulfed in baseball red ink ever since he became a magnate and there is no indication that he will be able to swim out of it soon.

A World Series would help some, but down around the baseball camps you hear that he won't cash in soon on that angle because, not only is his pitching on the weak side, but his infield isn't the kind likely to help the pitching.

Specifically, they tell you that Manager Joe Cronin has slowed up at shortstop to such extent that hit hitting no longer offsets his fielding.

THREE LEFT

The not too agile manager of the club, First Baseman Jimmy Foxx and Pitcher Lefty Grove, who by this time is a once-a-week performer, are the only three players still headlining for the Sox among those who came to the team in Yawkey's million dollar spending spree for talent in 1936, and this leads to the supposition that he may have to open up that satchel again. He says no.

Checking back you find that, having paid the equivalent of $285,000 for Cronin, $125,000 each for Grove and Foxx and small change such as $50,000 and $25,000 for Doc Cramer, Rick Ferrell, Bill Werber, Eric McNair and others, Yawkey has loosed his purse strings several times since that 1936 foray and still has done little more than barely keep the club in the first division.

The Sox finished fifth in 1937, second the next two years and dropped to fourth last season when the New York Yankees collapsed.

Some predict that the Sox won't even finish ahead of the St. Louis Browns this season, due to the Sox slim chance of getting sufficient infielding to offset the pitching weakness and the Browns' budding renaissance under a rebuilding plan expected to start paying off any time.

So where is Mr. Yawkey going to spend next, if at all? And how long is Cronin going to stick it out at short before bringing in a younger and spryer fellow to back up the hurling, not that he isn't good, but that he no longer is quite good enough on his fielding.

"Joe simply can't cover the ground any more and all this talk about the lack of pitching strength on the club is only partly true," a former Red Sox hurler now with another American League club told us last night.

He may be a little disgruntled, to be sure, but he is and was in position to know what flatters the Red Sox and what makes them click.

"The Red Sox will have to get a faster shortstop," the pitcher said. "When they do they will be as tough as any club in the league, and they won't need much more in the way of pitching. Incidentally, they had potentially good pitching last season, but couldn't make it pay off."

TOUGH STRUGGLE

Be that as it may, it is becoming more and more evident as the training grind rolls along toward the finish that the Sox and Mr. Yawkey are in for another tough struggle, a struggle that may end with them down in the second division. And that undoubtedly would cause Mr. Yawkey to lose some money around for players again, despite his insistence to the contrary.

The point is, his million dollars' worth of players brought in during 1936 has gone elsewhere or aged in the intervening years and what he needs now is a little talent to build up around the nucleus of a great club.

We personally can't think of a better way for a club-owner to spend part of his $50,000,000.

Lowell Pay Cut Restoration Refused

LOWELL, March 31 — Mayor George T. Ashe today made it clear there can be no restoration of reductions made 10 years ago in wages of city employes.

While checking the 1941 budget, the mayor said he had considered the possibility of pay increases, but that now he finds it impossible to restore wages to the 1931 status.
